HIGHLIGHTS: Soybeans were sharply lower during the week ended February 11. Wheat and feed grains sold in a mixed price trend. Market moving news was scarce and traders looked anxiously for direction. Timely rains in Brazil's dry corn and soybean areas weakened demand. Bearish economic reports and high interest continued to deter trade. A strong U.S. dollar in Europe weakened export demand. Cold temperatures, snow and ice caused transportation problems over wide areas. U.S.D.A. announcement that bin loans to farmers would be suspended because of heavy participation weakened the feed trade. Narrow feeding margins contributed to slow market movement. Grains inspected for export last week increased and new sales of wheat and corn gave traders encouragement toward the end of the week. Flour export sales to Egypt prompted mill demand.

WHEAT: Wheat traded mixed as new export sales were to light to fill projected volume necessary to draw down supplies. Tight farmer holding and mill buying to cover new export flour business contributed strength at the close. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein advanced 3 1/2 cents to $4.30 1/2 per bushel. Chicago soft red winter sold 2 cents lower at $3.59 3/4 per bushel. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14% protein rose 4 cents to $4.27 per bushel. Portland soft white declined 2 cents to $4.15 per bushel as pre-purchased wheat arrived in sufficient quantity to fill current export and domestic needs.

CORN: Corn markets were pressured by exports of larger than expected carryover stocks, rain in Brazil, weak economic outlooks, high interest rates, and concern over the USDA announced suspension of new farmer loans for bin construction. Kansas City multi-car No. 2 yellow corn fell 4 1/2 cents to $2.61 per bushel. Chicago declined 3 1/2 cents and Minneapolis eased 1 1/2 cents lower. White corn trade slow, rail bids steady but truck bids at Kansas City and Toledo declined, tending to follow the yellow corn market lower.

OATS AND BARLEY: Oat markets firmed as scarce good quality offerings were short of mill needs. The Minneapolis market rose 2-3 cents at $2.27-2.38 per bushel. Minneapolis best malting barley sold steady to 5 cents lower at $3.05-3.20 per bushel and feed trade declined 6 cents to $2.28 per bushel.

SORGHUM: Yellow sorghum trade was thin with light farm offerings, weak domestic demand and export loading light. Kansas City sorghum closed up 1 cent to $4.30 per cwt. Texas High Plains market unchanged to 5 cents higher.

OILSEEDS: Rain in Brazil's dry corn and soybean area weakened the soybean market. Weak export demand for soybeans, oil and meal added pressure at the close of the week. Illinois processor soybean prices fell 14 1/2-18 1/2 cents to $6.14-6.27 per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed rose 5 cents to $7.55 per bushel as processors raised bids to pull supplies out of farm stocks. Sunflower seed fell 20 cents at $12.40 per hundred weight at Minneapplis as prospects of large sales to Mexico dwindled. Sunflower oil steady at 26 cents per pound.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feedstuffs and feed grains traded mixed, but, mostly lower during the week ended February 9. Feed demand was slow as poor feeding margins, high interest rates, and ample farm stocks encouraged farmers to utilize home grown feeds and withhold grain from the cash market. Improved moisture conditions in Brazil's soybean production area and slowed export trade added pressure to markets.

OILSEED MEALS: Domestic and export demand was light, but, soybean meal production was active. Selling pressure developed and both futures price and basis eroded. Decatur 44 percent protein meal declined $6.50 to $189.50 and 48 percent protein meal fell $4.50 to $202.50 per ton. California solvent cottonseed meal rose $5.00 to $167.50 but southern mills ranged $9.40-$15.00 per ton lower as demand was very light. Minneapolis solvent linseed meal $2.00 higher to $147.00 per ton as supplies were light. Sunflower meal $5.00 higher to $110.00 per ton due to scarce supply. Sunflower oil 1/2 cent lower to 25 1/2 cents per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEIN: Animal protein prices were mixed with demand light but supplies are generally tight. Meat meal steady as weak demand was offset by lower production. Minneapolis meat meal steady at $210.00 per ton. West Coast fish meal unchanged in thin trading for light supplies. Gulf and East Coast port prices rose $5.00 to $380.00 per ton for Menadden fish meal. Chilean fish meal rose $5.00 to $390.00 per ton.

CORN FEEDS: Corn feed was pressured by weak domestic and export demand. Tight supplies offset the lack of demand. Illinois yellow hominy feed traded sharply lower early in the period but lower price levels brought buyers into the market late and prices closed $1.00 lower at $69.00 per ton. Corn gluten feed held steady at $117.00 per ton at Chicago and Kansas City. Corn gluten 60 percent protein meal under pressure and Chicago prices sold $2.50 lower at $272.50 per ton. Distillers' dried grains were unchanged with offerings light. Brewers' dried grain production expanded seasonally and prices declined.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Wheat millfeeds showed a mixed price trend. Relative cost in formula feeds was advantageous for use of wheat products, but, overall feed demand is weak. Flour mill grind showed expansion over much of the country. Jobber buying supported spot markets. Buffalo middlings fell $6.00 to $82.00 per ton. Minneapolis declined $4.00 to $56.00 per ton but Kansas City rose $6.00 to $79.00 per ton on active jobber buying. Portland mill run $1.50 lower to $115.50 per ton.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Dehydrated alfalfa meal traded steady to $2.00 lower as processors wanted to move remaining stocks in the face of weak demand. Alfalfa Center Nebraska traded $2.00 lower at $82.00 per ton. Buffalo reground meal $2.00 lower to $148.90 per ton. Hay markets and sun-cured alfalfa pellet trade was slow but tight supplies kept prices steady to firm.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses markets sold at steady prices. Supplies of domestic molasses ample as both South Florida and Louisiana had large supplies from the sugar cane grind. Demand remains weak despite extreme cold weather across the country. Beet and citrus molasses prices were steady. Production of citrus molasses through January 15, 1982 amounted to only 863,014 gallons compared to 1,761,526 gallons the corresponding period last season.

HIGHLIGHTS: Wheat and coarse grains sold mostly lower during the week ended February 18. Inspections for export expanded but not enough to maintain the rate necessary to fullfill projected export totals. Weakening influences were higher interest rates, increased projected carryover of feed grain stocks, political unrest in Poland and poor economic conditions. Market support originated in a resurgence of export sales activity, lower world soybean stocks, and tight farmer holding.

WHEAT: The winter wheat crop is reported in fair to good condition and this combined with less than expected disappearance tended to weaken the market. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat declined 5 1/2 cents to $4.25 per bushel. Chicago soft red winter wheat traded 5 cents lower at $3.54 3/4 per bushel. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14% protein wheat fell 8 1/2 cents to $4.18 1/2 per bushel. Portland soft white wheat 4 cents lower to $4.00 per bushel.

CORN: Yellow corn declined under pressure of light demand and increased world stocks, Chicago No. 2 yellow corn in hopper cars 1 3/4 cents lower to $2.61 per bushel. Minneapolis yellow corn fell 2 3/4 cents to $2.40 1/2 per bushel. Kansas City milling quality white corn held at $2.60 per bushel in light trade for rail receipts. Truck offerings declined 3 cents at Kansas City to $2.46 per bushel and down 5 cents to $2.41 per bushel at Topeka.

OATS AND BARLEY: Oat markets sold lower due to light demand and heavy supplies. Minneapolis declined 5-6 cents at $2.22-2.32 per bushel. Minneapolis best malting barley fell 10 cents to $2.95-3.10 per bushel. Feed barley declined 2-5 cents per bushel following the yellow corn market lower.

SORGHUM: Yellow sorghum traded mixed with Kansas City down 9 cents to $4.21 per hundred weight. The Texas High Plains sold steady to 5 cents higher at $4.75-4.85 per hundred weight as pastures deteriorated due to lack of moisture.

OILSEEDS: Oilseed markets found support in reports of reduced world production due to drought reduced Brazilian crop. Tight farmer holding caused processors to compete with exporters for supplies. Illinois processor soybean prices rose 1 1/2 cents to $6.15 1/2-6.28 1/2 per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed advanced 10 cents to $7.65 per bushel as crusher demand expanded. Duluth sunflower seed rose 10 cents to $12.50 per hundred pounds following the large sale of sunflower seed to Mexico.

INTERIOR

Exports from points other than listed above, including shipments by rail and truck.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feed grains and feedstuffs traded in a mixed trend during the week ended February 17. High interest rates, poor feeding margins and moderate weather combined to restrict sales. Most users bought hand to mouth and utilized farm stocks to maximum levels. Hog, poultry, dairy and pet feeds continue the main support of mixed feed operations.

OILSEED MEALS: Soybean meal advanced at most markets due to processors taking down time as tight farmer holding of cash soybeans further cut into operating time and narrowed margins. Decatur market fell $1.50 to $191.00 per ton for 44 percent and $204.00 for 48 percent protein meal. Cottonseed meal under selling pressure in southern areas and the market declined $5.00-10.00 per ton. California mill offerings were too light to report. Minneapolis linseed meal advanced $3.00 to $150.00 per ton due to light crush. Sunflower seed meal was unchanged at $110.00 per ton but sunflower seed oil rose 1 1/2 cents at 27 cents per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEIN: Meat meal supplies tightened due to smaller numbers and lighter weights of animals slaughtered. Feeders were not finishing to heavy weights due to narrow profit margins. Fort Worth and Buffalo advanced $7.50, Kansas City held steady and Los Angeles fell $5.00 to $242.50 per ton. Minneapolis tankage sold $5.00 lower to $225.00 per ton. Feather meal scarce and prices steady to firm. Fish meal supplies were tight but light demand kept prices steady to lower.

CORN FEEDS: Corn feeds were in light supply but demand was moderate and prices were influenced by small changes in offerings. Yellow hominy feed unchanged at $69.00 per ton at Illinois points and rose $2.00 to $92.00 at Kansas City. Corn gluten feed steady at $117.00 per ton Chicago and Kansas City but 60% gluten meal steady to $15.00 lower per ton in spots. Brewers' dried grains declined as production expanded seasonally. Distillers' dried grain supplies were very tight but market demand was light and offerings traded lower in an effort to keep shipments current.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Wheat middlings traded higher as jobber buying and new export sales offset slow feed mixer buying. Heavy flour mill grind gave increasing selling pressure at the close. Buffalo middlings rose $6.00 to $88.00 per ton, Kansas City $4.00 higher to $83.00 per ton. Portland millrun declined $2.50 to $113.00 per ton.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Most dehydrator officials were in an annual meeting and light buying interest kept alfalfa markets quiet. Best demand was for top quality alfalfa hay to move into dairy areas. Alfalfa center of Nebraska dehydrated alfalfa pellets steady at $82.00 per ton. Reground meal markets unchanged. Los Angeles sun-cured alfalfa pellets steady at $130.00 per ton. Baled alfalfa hay markets steady.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses markets sold steady with light demand. Supplies moved on an "as needed" basis. The only segment of the feeding industry reporting good demand was the dairy industry. Supplies remain ample for trade requirements. Beet molasses prices dropped slightly in Montana-Wyoming but held steady in Colorado. Supplies are ample. Citrus molasses markets held steady; however, supplies remain light.

DISTILLERS' AND BREWERS' DRIED GRAINS: U.S. PRODUCTION AND STOCKS, JANUARY 1982..... 20

HIGHLIGHTS: Wheat and feed grains traded at mostly lower prices during the week ended February 25. Markets were under pressure of large stocks on hand and prospects for large world grain production during the 1982-83 marketing year. Russian purchases of additional corn failed to stimulate the market. Lagging economy in the U.S. and world areas contributed weakness Prime interest rate eased but rates remain above the level at which borrowers are able to operate profitably. Warming weather and greened pastures in southern areas reduced animal feed requirements. Tight farm holding contributed most of the market support.

WHEAT: Smaller inspections of wheat for export and the large winter wheat crop weighed on most cash wheat markets. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat declined 9 3/4 cents, Chicago soft red winter wheat fell 10 1/2 cents, Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat sold 1 1/2 cents lower, and Portland soft white wheat traded 10 cents lower per bushel

CORN Yellow corn markets declined in spite of addtional sales to Russia and fairly tight farm holding as large stocks and large prospective planting weighed against values. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn in hopper cars traded 1 1/4 cents lower but Kansas City milling quality white corn held steady

OATS AND BARLEY: Oat markets weakened under pressure of heavy offerings. The Minneapolis market fell 10-12 cents per bushel. Minneapolis best malting barley finished up 5 cents, but feed grade was unchanged. The California barley market closed 2-3 cents per bushel lower.

SORGHUM Sorghum markets moved mixed as lower freight rates to Gulf ports caused some shifting of basis bids. The Kansas City market rose 4 cents but Texas High Plains traded unchanged to 5 cents lower per hundred pounds

OILSEED: Tight farm holding and a little pick in export shipment failed to maintain most soybean market prices. Illinois processor prices fell 6 1/2-8 1/2 cents per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed unchanged in thin trade. Duluth sunflower seed rose 5 cents per hundred pounds.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feedstuffs and feed grains sold at mostly lower price levels during the week ended February 23. Demand continued light and reduced offerings were ample to cover needs. Buying remains hand to mouth as high interest rates and poor feeding margins discouraged livestock feeders. Export demand uneven and below levels necessary to contribute market support.

OILSEED MEALS: Because of down time at some soybean processing plants, supplies were adequate to cover domestic and export demand. Decatur 44 percent protein meal declined $2.50 to $188.50 per ton and 48 percent sold $1.50 lower at $202.50 per ton. Cottonseed meal was in light supply at California mills but southern mills offered meal at $5.00-10.00 per ton lower prices as the pasture season approaches. Minneapolis linseed meal held firm at $150.00 per ton due to light supply. Sunflower meal also in light supply, advanced $5.00 to $115.00 per ton. Minneapolis sunflower oil rose 1 cent to 28 cents per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEIN: Meat meal markets showed a lower price trend for moderate offerings as general feed business remains slow. Kansas City meat meal sold $2.50 lower at $207.50 per ton and Fort Worth declined $5.00 to $230.00 per ton. Minneapolis tankage gained $5.00 at $230 00 per ton with demand good. Feather meal markets were unchanged due to light supply. Fish meal supply tightened and manhadden at gulf and east coast ports advanced $5.00 to 380.00 per ton The California market was unchanged in thin trading.

CORN FEEDS: Corn feeds were under selling pressure in spite of moderate production as domestic and export trade was showing a lower trend. Corn gluten feed steady at $117.00 per ton Chicago and Kansas City. Corn gluten 60 percent protein meal down $7.50 to $265.00 per ton at Chicago and down $10.00 to $275.00 per ton at Kansas City. Illinois yellow hominy feed down $1.00 to $68.00 per ton and Kansas City declined $4.00 to $88.00 per ton. Brewers' dried grains fell $3.00-5.00 under pressure of seasonal production expansion and no pick up in demand. Distillers' dried grain under pressure in spite of light production but one distiller is scheduled for extensive down time and this is keeping supplies tight.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Flour mill grind ranged from 5-7 days with export mills running full schedules. Millfeed production is running full schedules. Millfeed production is outrunning feed mixer demand. Jobber buying gave support with pelleting for export taking surplus production. Buffalo middlings fell $3.00 to $$85.00 per ton. Minneapolis midds sold $1.00 lower at $60.00 per ton and Kansas City declined $9.50 to $73.50 per ton. Portland millrun dropped $1.50 to $111 50 per ton

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Ligh demand and pasturage in southern areas pressured dehydrated alfalfa producers in areas where stocks are showing carryover potential. Alfalfa center of Nebraska dehydrated alfalfa pellets traded $1.00 lower at $81.00 per ton. Sun-cured alfalfa pellets in light supply and showed a steady price trend. Baled alfalfa hay unchanged in thin trading.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses markets sold steady. Demand was light to moderate as most feed mixers and users have cut molasses usage to a minimum. Supplies remain adequate for trade requirements. There have been several offshore sales lately in Trinidad, Mexico, and Egypt. Prices were not published, but trade sources indicate most of the molasses was purchased on a formula basis and is earmarked for European delivery. Molasses imports during December 1981 amounted to 212,763 metric tons compared to 174,951 metric tons during December 1980. Australia with 54,011 metric tons followed by Columbia 35,866 metric tons. Dominican republic 25,924 metric tons and Ecuador with 25 635 metric tons were the leading suppliers. For the year 1981 preliminary imports total 1,234,544 metric tons compared to 928 188 metric tons during 1980.

FEEDSTUFFS: WHOLESALE PRICES.....12-13
FEEDSTUFFS AND GRAINS: AVERAGE BULK PRICES AT PRINCIPAL MARKETS AND INDEX NUMBERS, FEBRUARY 1982..... 14
OILSEED: CRUSHED, MEAL AND OIL PRODUCTION, AND ENDING STOCKS, JANUARY 1982..... 15
FEEDSTUFFS: PRODUCTION, DECEMBER 1981..... 16

HIGHLIGHTS: Oilseed prices sold generally lower during the week ended March 4. Poor world wide economy, high interest rates, and large stocks of grains weakened buyer demand. Poor feeding margins and mild tempertures over the southern half of the country kept buying hand to mouth. Yellow corn markets firmed as Russia bought 600,000 metric tons of U.S. corn. Tight farm holding forced most wheat markets higher in spite of large stocks and the possibility of another near record.

WHEAT: Tight farm holding forced wheat prices higher. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat closed 4 3/4 cents higher to $4.20 per bushel with new export flour business to Egypt contributing support. Chicago soft red winter wheat advanced 15 cents to $3.59 1/4 per bushel. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat declined 2 3/4 cents to $4.14 1/4 per bushel. Portland soft white wheat sold 4 cents higher to $4.02 per bushel.

CORN: Yellow corn prices advanced as light farm selling and increased export sales forced higher bids to pull in stocks. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn in hopper cars rose 4 cents to $2.64 1/4. Minneapolis market sold 8 1/2 cents higher to $2.45 1/4 per bushel. Kansas City milling quality white corn was unchanged in light trading.

OATS AND BARLEY: Oats sold mixed in thin trading. Chicago prices were 5 cents higher to $2.15 1/2 per bushel while Minneapolis sold steady to 5 cents lower at $2.07-2.20 per bushel. Minneapolis best malting barley traded steady at $3.00-3.15. Feed barley prices were lower but received some support from higher corn prices and improved export sales. Portland feed barley 4 cents lower to $2.86 per bushel.

SORGHUM: Yellow sorghum was mixed in light trading. Kansas City multi-car sold 2 cents lower to $4.23, per hundred weight. Texas high plains closed steady to 5 cents lower at $4.70-4.80 per hundred weight.

OILSEEDS: Soybean markets were under pressure from expanding harvest in South America and light domestic soybean meal demand. Illinois processing prices dropped 5-8 cents to $6.04-6.12 per bushel. Duluth sunflower seed declined 25 cents to $12.30 per hundred pounds.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feedstuffs traded at mostly lower price levels during the week ended March 2. Demand continued light due to high interest rates, poor feeding margins, and mild weather over much of the nation. Feed grains traded mostly higher due to tight farm holdings and improved export demand.

OILSEED MEALS: Soybean processors reduced crush due to poor margins and tight farmer holding of soybeans. Export and domestic feed demand was light and confined to immediate needs only. Decatur 44 percent protein meal sold $1.00 lower to $187.50 and 48 percent meal $2.00 lower to $200.50 per ton. Soybean meal traded higher in areas where production fell short of immediate needs. Cottonseed meal declined seasonally as pastures improved over the southern tier of states. Minneapolis linseed meal rose $2.00 to $152.00 per ton due to light supply. Sunflower seed meal unavailable due to heavy export movement of sunflower seed. Sunflower oil up 1/4 cent of 28 1/4 cents per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEIN: Animal proteins are in tight supply due to reduced slaughter rate and light weight of animals moving to market. Light demand limited market advances. Minneapolis meat meal rose $7.50 to $212.50 per ton and feather meal $2.50 higher at $292.50 per ton due to light supply. Most other meat meal and feather meal markets were steady in a light production-light demand balance. Fish meal supplies continued to tighten and prices were steady as light demand prevailed.

CORN FEEDS: Cash market strength failed to maintain corn feeds as light demand kept selling pressure on the market. Illinois yellow hominy feed declined $3.00 to $65.00 per ton and Kansas City fell $3.00 to $85.00 per ton. Corn gluten feed traded generally $5.00 lower and 60 percent corn gluten meal dropped $10.00 at production points. Distillers' dried grains sold steady with demand light and little production on offer. Brewers' dried grains declined as light seasonally expanded production faced weak demand.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Weak mixed feed demand and moderate to heavy flour mill grind forced wheat millfeeds lower. Buffalo midds sold $1.00 lower to $84.00 per ton St. Louis fell $5.00 to $85.00 per ton, Minneapolis market $3.00 lower to $57.00 per ton Kansas City $9.50 lower to $64.00 per ton.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Dehydrated alfalfa carryover stocks continued to weigh on demand. Alfalfa center of Nebraska dehydrated alfalfa pellets declined $2.00 to $79.00 per ton and most reground meal markets sold $1.00-2.00 per ton lower. Sun-cured alfalfa pellets and baled hay markets were unchanged in slow trading.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses sold steady with demand light due to improved pasture conditions in Texas and Florida. Demand through the midwest and northeast moderate. Supplies remain ample, however, some molasses usually consigned to the United States is being diverted to Europe. European prices currently $15.00-17.00 per ton over U.S. prices. Beet molasses sold $5.00 higher as the grinding season will be completed by the weekend and most available supplies have been sold.

HIGHLIGHTS: Oilseed traded mostly lower across the nation during the week ended March 11. Wheat and feed grains traded mixed . Poor world wide economy continues a deterrent to trade. Oilseed markets were mostly lower as Brazil moved to market their drought shortened crop before the U.S. prospectively larger crop will be havested this fall. Cattle and hog market improvement came too late to contribute much support to feed grain markets. Interest rates declined during the period but remain above levels necessary to generate stockpiling or expansion of operations. Mild temperatures over the southern half of the nation greened pastures and reduced animal feed requirements.

WHEAT: Hard red winter wheat received market support from strong mill buying to replace expanded domestic and export flour business and a sale of about 1/2 million tons of wheat to Brazil. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat rose 3 1/2 cents to $4.23 1/2 per bushel. Chicago soft red winter wheat declined 13 3/4 cents to $3.45 1/2 per bushel. China switched large amounts of old crop wheat purchases to new crop postition and this weakened the soft red winter wheat market. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat eased 1 cent lower to $4.13 1/4 per bushel. The lake shipping season opening has been delayed to April 5.

CORN: Yellow corn markets showed strength as Russian purchases expanded and farmers held stocks tightly. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn rose 3 cents to $2.67 1/4 cents per bushel. Kansas City white corn market dull at a mostly steady price as demand continues very slow. Current market is $2.60 per bushel.

OATS AND BARLEY: Oat Markets firmed and barley moved narrowly mixed in light trade. Minneapolis heavy oats sold steady to up 1 cent at $2.08-2.20 per bushel. Minneapolis best malting barley closed steady at $3.00-3.15 per bushel. Portland feed barley sold 1 cent lower to 2 cents highe at $2.85-2.88 per bushel.

SORGHUM: Sorghum traded mixed with little expansion of export demand but feed demand eased due to warmer temperatures in southern areas.Kansas City sorghum advanced 6 cents to $4.29 per hundred pounds. Texas High Plains market steady to 5 cents lower at $4.70-4.75 per hundred pounds.

OILSEED: Soybean markets closed mixed as Brazil marketed their new crop, this offset tight farmer holding of soybeans in the U.S. Illinois processing bids closed 1 1/2 cents lower to 1/2 cents higher at $6.02 1/2-6.12 1/2 per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed fell 15 cents to $7.50 per bushel as crushers were out of the market. Duluth sunflower seed fell 40 cents to $11.90 per hundred pounds. Sunflower seed oil dipped 1/2 cents lower at 27 3/4 cents per pound at Minneapolis.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feedstuffs and feed grains sold mostly lower during the week ended March 9. High interest rates, poor feeding margins, and stocks of home grown feed restricted domestic feed business. Export trade picked up for wheat middlings and dehydrated alfalfa pellets when prices fell to new season lows.

OILSEED MEALS: Soybean meal declined due to light domestic and export demand in spite of reduced crush rates. Decatur 44 percent protein meal declined $6.50 to $181.00 per ton and 48 percent protein meal sold $5.50 lower at $195.00 per ton. Southwest solvent cottonseed meal $7.50 lower per ton but Memphis sold $2.50 higher at $137.50 per ton. Minneapolis linseed meal was unchanged in thin trading. Sunflower meal steady in light trading. Sunflower seed oil declined 1/4 cent to 28 cents per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEIN: Animal protein markets closed mixed with tight supply tending to offset weak demand. Kansas City meat meal sold $2.50 higher at $210.00 per ton while Minneapolis sold $5.00 lower at $207.50 per ton. Minneapolis tankage $10.00 lower at $225.00 per ton. Tight supply forced West Coast fish meal markets sharply higher but light demand kept Gulf and East Coast prices unchanged in spite of tightening supply.

CORN FEEDS: Corn feed sold mostly steady in spite of weakness in most yellow corn markets and light demand to domestic and export trade. Gluten feed was unchanged at $112.00 per ton Chicago or Kansas City. Corn gluten 60 percent protein meal steady at $255.00 per ton Illinois, but $3.00 lower at $82.00 per ton at Kansas City. Brewers' and Distillers' dried grains were under selling pressure and mostly $2.00-5.00 per ton lower.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Wheat millfeeds declined due to expanded flour mill grind as additional export flour business was booked. Export demand for pelleted millfeeds took the pressure off at some points and these markets sold higher. Slow mixed feed business restricted trade to domestic users. Buffalo middlings sold steady at $84.00 per ton, St. Louis fell $5.00, Kansas City market $6.50 higher and Minneapolis sold $3.00 higher at $60.00 per ton.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Domestic demand remained slow but export demand picked up for dehydrated alfalfa pellets. Producers were anxious to clean up old crop supply and Alfalfa Center, Nebraska prices sold $2.00 lower at $77.00 per ton. Most reground meal markets were unchanged. Sun-cured Alfalfa pellets and baled alfalfa hay markets were unchanged with tight stocks and light demand.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molases sold steady. Demand remains light and volume below expectations in some quarters, however, most suppliers expect current conditions to prevail over the next couple of months. The European prices coupled with the U.S. livestock situation will be the two major controlling influences on U.S. prices. Beet and citrus molasses sold steady. Beet molasses supplies out of the Red River Valley area remain heavy. Production of citrus molasses through February 15 amounted to 10,153 tons compared to 20,992 tons last season.

ATTENTION

A U.S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTUTRE TEST THAT PROVIDES MARKET NEWS REPORTS ON A VARIETY OF COMMODITES FOR A 50-CENT DIRECT-DIAL TELEPHONE CALL WILL BE DISCONTINUED APRIL 1.

HIGHLIGHTS: Wheat and feed grain markets traded at mostly higher price levels for the week ended March 18. Soybean markets closed stronger in spite of spreading Brazilian harvest as flooding in the midwest delayed movement and farmers held tightly to stocks in other areas. There was little market supporting news during the week as supply/demand estimates pointed to larger than expected carryover of U.S. Grains. New export business was only moderate, and world crop information showed little change. Support came from doubling of acreage set aside during the past week, stronger gold and financial markets, and fairly good inspections for export totals for last week. Higher interest rates tended to offset some of the financial market strength.

WHEAT: Most wheat markets moved higher in response to tight farmer holding, good vessel line-up at ports, and good mill demand to replace grind. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat sold 1 cent higher to $4.24 per bushel. Chicago soft red winter wheat traded 12 cents higher to $3.57 per bushel. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14% protein wheat 2 cents higher to $4.16 per bushel. Portland soft white wheat advanced 1 cent to $4.00 per bushel.

CORN: Corn markets showed strength as flooding prevented grain movement in parts of the midwest and farmers held stocks. Chicago No. 2 yellow corn in hopper cars sold 3 cents higher to $2.70 per bushel, other markets sold 1-5 cents per bushel higher.

OATS AND BARLEY: Oat prices were uneven but mostly higher. Minneapolis prices showed greatest strength and advanced 5-10 cents at $2.18-2.25 per bushel. Feed barley traded mixed, down 3 cents to $2.15 at Minneapolis and up 7-10 cents at $2.95 per bushel Portland. Minneapolis best malting barley was unchanged at $3.00-3.15 per bushel.

SORGHUM: Renewed export trade supported yellow sorghum markets in spite of light domestic demand. Kansas City sold 1 cent higher to $4.30 per hundred weight. Texas High Plains closed steady to 5 cents higher at $4.70-4.80 per hundred weight.

OILSEED: Soybean markets found broad support from higher oil and meal markets. Flooding interrupted movement in the upper midwest and tight farmer holding stimulated demand. Illinois processor prices sold 15-17 cents higher at $6.19-6.27 per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed sold 15 cents lower at $7.35 per bushel as crushers remained out of the market. Duluth sunflower seed advanced 10 cents to $12.00 per hundred pounds. Minneapolis sunflower seed oil sold 1/2 cents lower at 27 1/4 cents per pound.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feedstuffs and grains averaged 1.00 per ton higher with mixed trends during the week ended March 16. Domestic feed demand showed little change. Export trade for pelleted mid-protein feeds picked up for shipment during April - May. High interest rates and narrow feeding margins kept buying hand to mouth.

OILSEED MEALS: Soybean meal traded mostly 1.00-2.00 per ton higher as a result of cut back in processor run time as demand continued light. Decatur 44 percent meal sold steady at $181.00 per ton but 48 percent protein meal advanced $1.00 to $196.00 per ton. Cottonseed meal was mixed as supplies tightened in some spots but greening pastures in southern areas reduced cattle feeding needs. Texas mill offerings declined $2.50 but Memphis sold $6.50 higher at $145.00 per ton.Minneapolis linseed meal steady at $152.00 with demand light and production light at Minneapolis. Sunflower seed meal $5.00 lower at $110.00 per ton in thin trading. Sunflower oil 3/4 cent lower to 27 1/4 cents per pounds.

ANIMAL PROTEIN: Meat meal markets were mixed as production was light in the upper midwest but demand remained light. Fort Worth meat meal dropped $5.00 to $225.00 per ton and Minneapolis sold $2.50 higher to $210.00 per ton. Fish meal was steady to weak as light demand, tight supply and nearby new crop production pressured markets. Gulf and East Coast port markets sold $5.00 lower to $375.00 per ton. West Coast Market were firm at $390.00 per ton.

CORN FEEDS: Corn feeds were under pressure from light demand but higher cash corn markets and improved export demand contributed support. Corn gluten feed steady at $112.00 per ton Chicago or Kansas City. Corn gluten 60 percent meal sold $10.00 lower at both markets and was further discounted for shipment into Eastern feeding areas where old crop corn continues to compete with feedstuffs in rations. Yellow hominy feed 3.00 lower at $62.00 per ton Illinois Points and 1.00 lower at $81.00 per ton at Kansas City. Brewers and Distillers markets showed little price change with trade thin.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Wheat millfeeds responded to changes in flour mill run schedules and to a pick up in pelleting of wheat middlings for export from the midwest.Buffalo midds sold $5.00 higher to $89.00 per ton and Minneapolis advanced $8.00 to $68.00 per ton.Kansas City sold $6.50 higher to $77.00 per ton.West Coast flour mills ran heavier schedules and wheat millrun sold $5.00 lower to $103.00 per ton at Portland and $3.50 lower to $105.00 per ton at Los Angeles.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Alfalfa trade remained slow to domestic users but export interest picked up when prices slipped lower. Alfalfa Center of Nebraska dehydrated alfalfa pellets sold $1.00 lower to $76.00 per ton. Reground meal traded mixed, $1.00 lower to $1.00 higher. Sun-cured alfalfa pellet trade slow at steady prices. Baled alfalfa hay was unchanged with improved demand from northern dairy areas.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses sold steady. Demand was light, and with greening pastures and warm weather, a weak undertone was noted. Supplies remain plentiful for trade requirements. Imports of molasses during January amounted to 57.6 metric tons, compared to 70.0 metric tons last year. The Netherlands with 16.9 metric tons, followed by Columbia 12.6, and Australia 9.0 metric tons were leading suppliers.

WEEKLY SUMMARY	11
FEEDSTUFFS: WHOLESALE PRICES	12-13
ALFALFA MEAL: PRODUCTION AND STOCKS, FEBRUARY 1982	14
COTTONSEED AND LINSEED OIL-CAKE AND MEAL: U.S. EXPORTS BY COUNTRY OF DESTINATION, JANUARY 1982	15

HIGHLIGHTS: Wheat and feed grain markets sold mostly higher during the week ended March 25. Much of the market information was offsetting and closing prices were generally above week ago levels but below midweek high points. Flooding in soft red winter sections of the midwest may have damaged some wheat. The hard red winter wheat crop was showing good progress in most areas. Cattle were being moved from wheat fields and this improved feed lot demand for feedstuffs.Political problems in several areas caused cancellation or delay of grain trades. China bought one million tons of Austalian wheat, which had been expected to be shipped from the U.S. Pacific northwest market. River opening on the upper Mississippi waterways to barge traffic fostered higher bids for grains out of the upper midwest but high waters on the Illinois River caused closing of part of that waterway. Lower freight rates from the soft red winter wheat area prompted speculation that tightened stocks would be drawn down more. Farmer sign up under the set aside program continued to increase rapidly.

WHEAT: Kansas City hard red winter wheat sold higher on tight farmer holding, light elevator stocks, and light flour mill supplies. Ordinary protein wheat sold 1 1/4 cent higher at $4.25 3/4 per bushel. Chicago soft winter wheat closed 8 1/2 cents higher to $3.66 1/4 per bushel. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat sold 1 3/4 cents higher to $4.17 3/4 per bushel. Portland soft white wheat was 7 cents higher at $4.07 per bushel.

CORN: Yellow corn markets found good demand from steady export business and fairly tight holding at the farm level. Domestic feed demand showed a little improvement in areas where cattle moved to dry lots from wheat pastures. Price advances at the close were 1/2 - 4 cents higher per bushel above last week. White corn market continues slow with users well supplied and sellers not anxious to move current holdings.

OATS AND BARLEY: Oats and barley trading was light as new crop planting began. Prices were mixed in thin trading. Minneapolis No. 2 heavy oats closed steady to 10 cents lower at $2.08-2.25 per bushel. Portland feed barley sold 3 cents higher to $2.98 per bushel.

SORGHUM: Yellow sorghum trading was light after exporters covered nearby commitments. Kansas City closed 3 cents higher at $4.33 per hundred pounds. Texas High Plains held steady at $4.70-4.80 per hundred pounds.

OILSEEDS: Oilseeds sold higher in spite of increased country selling at river markets. A major soybean processor was reported readying plants to resume crush after a lengthy shut down. Soybean export movement continued at a fairly steady pace. Illinois crusher prices closed steady to 3 cents higher at $6.22 1/2 - 6.27 1/2 per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed sold 5 cents higher to $7.40 per bushel. Duluth sunflower seed advanced 30 cents to $12.30 per hundred pounds. Minneapolis sunflower oil declined 1 1/2 cents to 25 3/4 cents per pound.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feed grains were mostly higher during the week ended March 23. Grain inspections for export eased slightly but maintained a good pace. Tight farmer holding and improved economy contributed support. Feedstuffs traded mixed and trading remained hand-to mouth due to narrow feeding margins and high interest rates. Southern pastures began to cut into cattle feed volume in southern areas. Reduced swine numbers weighed on upper midwestern area markets. Dairy feeds moved well and poultry feeding shows steady growth as turkeys and heavier broiler placements go into full feeding schedules.

OILSEED MEAL: Soybean meal prices sold higher in spite of light domestic and export demand as reduced crush rates began to cut into soybean meal stocks. Decatur 44 percent meal sold $5.00 higher to $186.00 per ton and 48 percent protein meal sold $4.00 higher to $200.00 per ton. Cottonseed meal trading was thin and little changed except in Memphis where the solvent meal market sold $5.00 lower to $140.00 per ton. Minneapolis linseed meal was unchanged at $152.00 per ton in slow trading. Sunflower seed meal was steady at $110.00 per ton with little for sale and demand light. Minneapolis sunflower seed oil declined 1 3/4 cents 25 1/2 cents per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEIN: Animal protein markets were mixed as soybean meal markets countered a tight supply of animal protein. Minneapolis meat meal sold $5.00 higher to $215.00 per ton but tankage fell $17.50 to $212.50 per ton. Feather meal markets were steady but with a weak undertone as new orders fell in the face of gradually increasing production. Fish meal supplies remain tight and heavy fresh water run off into the gulf may delay harvest as fish move further away from shore. Fish meal prices were steady, except imported Chilean, $5.00 higher to $385.00 per ton at gulf ports.

CORN FEEDS: Corn feed trading was slow but higher cash corn and wheat millfeed advances gave some support. Yellow hominy feed is in tight supply and the Illnois market sold $3.00 higher to $65.00 per ton while Kansa City sold $1.00 higher to $82.00 per ton. Corn gluten 60 percent protein meal was under pressure from soybean meal and traded $10.00 lower at $235.00 Chicago and $245.00 per ton at Kansas City. Brewers' dried grain supplies tightened after recent export sales and stronger wheat millfeeds added strength. Brewers' dried grains were mostly $1.00-2.00 higher except at Boston where sharply lower distillers' dried grains pressured the market $1.00 lower. Distillers' dried grains remain in short supply but under light demand. Prices were lower at all reporting points.

MILLFEEDS: Light flour mill grind coupled with export sales of pelleted wheat middlings forced wheat millfeeds higher at all but west coast mills. Most advanced $2.00-4.00 but St. Louis middsrose $6.00 to $91.00 per ton. West coast millrun declined $3.00-6.50 per ton.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Alfalfa trading was slow with light demand as seasonal improvements of southern pastures filled range cattle needs. Export buying tended to firm alfalfa market. Alfalfa center dehydrated alfalfa pellets were steady at $76.00 per ton. Reground alfalfa meal prices were steady. Sun-cured alfalfa pellets and baled hay trading was slow at steady prices.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses sold steady. Demand somewhat light as greening pastures in much of the southeast, south and southwest have greatly reduced feeding requirements. Supplies remain ample for trade needs. A stronger U.S. dollar has had a stabilizing effect on off shore prices.

HIGHLIGHTS: Wheat and feed grain prices were mixed during the week ended April 1. Markets received no clear direction as much of the reports were offsetting. China's wheat crop is under drought stress and the U.S. soft red winter wheat showed spotty winter damage but ample moisture and warm temperatures caused rapid greening in the midwest. A strong U.S. currency was countered by stronger gold and silver markets. At the the close, there was a report of a fire in a European soybean processing plant which improved U.S. soybean meal export business.

WHEAT: Wheat markets closed mixed as several large export tenders were cancelled or delayed. Flour mills bought to replace grind but operated at less than full schedules. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat declined 2 1/4 cents to $4.23 1/2 per bushel. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14% protein wheat closed unchanged at $4.17 3/4. Portland soft white wheat rose 3 cents to $4.10.

CORN: Yellow corn markets moved mixed as farm selling was spotty and demand only fair. Kansas City market rose 2 3/4 cents to $2.66 due to tight farm holding and fair export movement. St. Louis market finished unchanged to 1 cent lower at $2.68-2.70. White corn markets showed little change in trading but inquiry picked up at the close. Kansas City rail price for milling quality white corn held at $2.60 per bushel. Truck bids closely followed yellow corn market direction.

OATS AND BARLEY: Minneapolis oats rose 4-7 cents at $2.12-2.32 due to expanded mill demand. Minneapolis best malting barley market held unchanged all week at $2.90-3.15 per bushel. Feed barley markets moved mixed; Portland 8-10 cents lower at $2.88-2.90 and Stockton 2-3 cents higher at $3.10-3.12 per bushel.

SORGHUM: Sorghum trade was dull but followed the yellow corn price direction with best demand for loading ships at gulf ports. The Kansas City market advanced 5 cents to $4.38 per hundred pounds. Texas High Plains market was steady to 15 cents higher at $4.70-4.95.

OILSEEDS: Soybean trade was thin with demand and farm offerings light. The market found support at the close from a report of a fire damaging a European soybean processing facility and this picked up U.S. soybean meal business. Illinois processor point price rose 6-7 cents at $6.29 1/2-6.33 1/2 per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed fell 5 cents to $7.35 per bushel. Duluth sunflower seed advanced 35 cents to $12.65 per hundred pounds. Minneapolis sunflower seed oil rose 3/4 cents to 26 1/2 cents per pound.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feedstuffs and feed grains traded mixed during the week ended March 30. Corn pellets were higher due to tight farm holding and continued export demand. Grain sorghum tended to follow corn markets higher in slow trading. Barley markets were mostly lower as export trade was light. Oats were steady to 1 cent higher. Feedstuffs trade picked up in areas where cattle were being moved to dry lots from wheat pastures but overall feed demand was light due to spring-like weather and pastures growing rapidly in southern areas. Dairy feeds continue to move well and poultry feed volume showed a slight increase.

OILSEED MEAL: Soybean meal sold mostly lower as production picked up and demand remains light. Export trade slowed due to U.S. dollar strength in Europe. Decatur market sold $3.50 lower to $182.50 per ton for 44 percent and to $196.50 per ton for 48 percent protein meal. Cottonseed meal declined sharply with the California solvent meal down $10.00 to $157.50 per ton and southern mills traded $7.50 per ton lower. Minneapolis linseed meal was unchanged at $152.00 per ton in thin trading. Sunflower meal steady at $110.00 per ton with supply light at Minneapolis. Sunflower seed oil rose 1 1/4 cents to 26 3/4 cents per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEIN: Light supplies supported meat meal markets and all but southwestern offerings traded $2.50-5.00 per ton higher. Minneapolis tankage advanced $7.50 to $220.00 per ton. Yellow grease is in light supply and sold 1/4-1/2 cents per pound higher at most markets. Fish meal supply was light and domestic supplies were held at steady prices with demand light and trading thin.

CORN FEEDS: Corn feeds moved well due to favorable price relationships with other feed ingredients. Higher corn prices supported yellow hominy feed advances of $4.00 per ton to $69.00 at Illinois points and to $86.00 per ton at Kansas City Corn gluten feed sold steady at $112.00 per ton Chicago or Kansas City. Corn gluten meal movement picked up after prices fell $10.00 to $235.00 per ton Chicago and $245.00 per ton at Kansas City. Distillers' dried grains traded mixed as April allotments were quickly sold at lower prices and the market. moved sharply higher for scarce resale offerings. Brewers' dried grains traded steady to higher as breweries cut back production as cold temperatures in northern areas limited beer sales.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Flour mill grind moved at a steady pace but pelleting for previous export business tightened supply and millfeeds moved $1.00-4.00 per ton higher. Buffalo middlings advanced $2.00 to $94.00 per ton. Mineapolis sold $1.00 higher to $78.00 and St. Louis sold $4.00 higher to $95.00 per ton. Portland millrun traded $1.00 higher at $101.00 per ton.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Alfalfa markets showed little direction but recent export business pulled down stocks somewhat and reduced selling pressure. Alfalfa center of Nebraska dehydrated alfalfa pellets held steady at $76.00 per ton. Minneapolis reground alfalfa meal sold $3.00 lower to $95.00 per ton but other reground meal markets remained unchanged. Sun-cured alfalfa pellets and baled alfalfa trade was thin at unchanged prices.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses sold mostly steady except $3.00 higher in California for the only major price change. The California price increase was due to supply problems in Hawaii. Demand remains light as supplies were ample in other areas. England has cut prices approximately $10.00 per ton; however, this was overdue as England establishes prices for a six month period. The European price is still at premium compared to U.S. prices and will control the availability of off-shore molasses entering the U.S.

DISTILLERS' AND BREWERS" DRIED GRAINS U.S. PRODUCTION AND STOCKS, FEBRUARY 1982..... 20

HIGHLIGHTS: Grain prices finshed higher across the nation for the week ended April 8. The main support in the market was the impending conflict over the possession of the Falkland Islands which may interrupt the flow of grain from Argentina and Brazil. Farm selling increased early in the week, although snow through the country disrupted movement. Barge loadings were restricted at some upper Mississippi river points due to higher water which is still rising.

WHEAT: Wheat prices were slightly higher. Flour mills were limited buyers, and export business was light. Kansas City red winter wheat ordinary protein sold 5 cents higher to $4.28 per bushel. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat closed 3 cents higher at $4.21 per bushel. Portland soft white wheat sold 1 cent higher to $4.11 per bushel.

CORN: Corn prices were higher as increased exporter buying supported prices. Kansas City multi-car corn sold 5 cents higher to $2.71 per bushel. St. Louis corn closed 8 cents higher at $2.76-2.78 per bushel. White corn markets closed steady in Kansas City at $2.60 per bushel in light trading.

OATS AND BARLEY: Minneapolis oats sold 3-10 cents higher at $2.22-2.35 per bushel as mill demand was good. The current market is 6-15 cents over last year. Winter weather has delayed oat seeding in Iowa and Southern Minnesota. Minneapolis best malting barkey market was steady to 5 cents lower at $2.85-3.15 per bushel. Feed barley prices were mostly steady. Los Angeles and Stockton barley was unchanged at $3.12 per bushel and Portland sold 2-5 cents higher at $2.90-2.95 per bushel.

SORGHUM: Sorghum prices were higher following corn advances. Gulf demand supported local markets. Kansas City sorghum sold 8 cents higher to $4.46 per cwt. Texas High Plains was steady to 5 cents higher at $4.75-4.90 per cwt.

OILSEEDS: Soybean prices sold moderately higher due to the possible cut-off of South American exports. Illinois processing points sold 13-14 cents higher to $6.43-6.46 per bushel. Country movement of soybeans increased early in the week as prices advanced. Minneapaolis flaxseed finished the week steady at $7.35 per bushel. Duluth sunflower seed sold 5 cents lower to $12.60 per hundred pounds. Minneapolis sunflower seed was unchanged at $11.80 per hundred pounds.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feedstuffs and feed grains traded mixed during the week ended April 6. Corn markets were steady to higher, pushing hominy feed higher in many areas. Barley prices were mixed on the West Coast, higher in the Pacific Northwest as feedlots and exporters competed for tight supplies, and closing lower for truck delivered at California points. Feedstuffs prices showed strength in soybean meal resulting from contiued down time at some locations, winter storms through the nation and impending conflict in the Falkland Islands. Hominy feed and wheat millrun markets were steady to higher, Alfalfa markets finished mostly steady.

OILSEED MEAL: Soybean meal sold mostly higher due to continued processor down time at scattered locations. Decatur unrestricted prices were $7.50 higher with 44 percent protein meal closing at $190.00 per ton and 48 percent finishing at $204.00 per ton. Minneapolis meal was $7.50 higher at $189.80 per ton. Cottonseed meal markets closed steady to slightly higher. California solvent process meal was steady at $157.50 per ton, Kansas City sold $2.00 higher to $145.00 per ton, southern mills steady, Minneapolis linseed meal was unchanged at $152.00 per ton with supplies tight. Sunflower seed meal closed $5.00 lower to $105.00 per ton, and sunflower oil averaged 1/2 cent per pound higher at 27 1/4 cents per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEIN: Tight supply supported meat meal markets with prices steady to $9.00 per ton higher on the West Coast. Minneapolis tankage was $10.00 higher to $230.00 per ton as feeder demand picked up. Yellow grease was higher at most reporting markets. Fish meal was steady Gulf Coast, $5.00 lower East Coast, and off $16.25 per ton West Coast, reflecting formula changes and newly available anchovy supplies.

CORN FEEDS: Hominy feeds were steady to higher through the week. Hominy sold $4.00 higher to $73.00 per ton at Illinois points as buyers considered price relationships favorable to other ingredients. Kansas City hominy closed steady at $86.00 per ton in light trading. Corn gluten feed was unchanged at $112.00 per ton in Chicago and Kansas City. Gluten meal was steady to $10.00 lower in Minneapolis. Distillers' dried grains traded steady. Brewer' dried grains were higher as supplies are tight and demand is picking up, Chicago sold $3.00 higher to $92.00, Minneapolis $7.00 higher to $102.00 per ton.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Millfeed prices advanced in the midwest and were mostly steady at other markets. Mill run time in the Central States has decreased, tightening immediate shipment supplies. Kansas City sold $8.00 higher per ton, Minneapolis bran and midds $6.00 higher.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Alfalfa prices showed little fluctuation and prices closed steady. Dehydrated pellets, Alfalfa Center of Nebraska was steady at $75.00 per ton. Minneapolis reground meal unchanged at $95.00 per ton. Sun-cured alfalfa pellets and baled alfalfa hay was unchanged.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses prices were unchanged. In general supplies are ample for a light to moderate demand. California prices advanced due to logistic problems and the temporary closing of two sugar factories. Beet and citrus markets were steady. Production of citrus molasses through March 15, 1982 amounted to 16,873 tons compared to 28,088 tons last year.

FEEDSTUFFS: WHOLESALE PRICES, MARCH 1982.....20-21
FEEDSTUFFS AND GRAINS: AVERAGE BULK PRICES AT PRINCIPAL MARKETS AND INDEX NUMBERS, MARCH 1982..... 22

HIGHLIGHTS: Grain prices were mixed for the week ended April 15. soybean prices were pressured by lack of settlement in the Falkland Island dispute and lower crush figures as processors slow at their buying. Barge movement expanded and Great Lakes shipping has started with ships arriving in Duluth this week and ship loading of grains underway in Toledo. Country selling of grain was light to moderate through the week.

WHEAT: Wheat prices moved slightly to moderately higher , especially Soft Red winter. Exporter demand for the soft wheats at Gulf and Pacific Northwest locations supported prices. Hard and Soft Red winter wheat reported in good condition except for spotty dryness in the Hard Red and too much water in a few Soft Red areas. Kansas City Hard Red winter wheat ordinary protein rose 1 1/4 cents to $4.29 3/4. Minneapolis Dark Northern spring 14 percent wheat rose 5 3/4 cents to $4.27. Portland Soft White rose 4 cents to $4.15. Soft Red Winter wheat in Toledo was up 10-12 cents at $3.69-3.71, and up 13-16 cents in Chicago at $3.73 3/4-3/83 3/4.

CORN: Corn prices were slightly higher. Kansas City multicar corn rose 2 1/2 cents to $2.73 3/4. St. Louis corn closed at $2.80-2.82, up 4 cents from last week. White corn market in Kansas City rose 5 cents to $2.65.

OATS AND BARLEY: Minneapolis oats fell 5-7 cents to $2.15-2.30 as an estimated 1 million bushels were imported into that area from Canada. Government selling of it's oats stocks also increased supplies. Minneapolis best malting barley was steady to 10 cents lower at $2.75-3.15. Feed barley markets were higher, up 2-3 cents at California reporting points, $3.12-3.17 anf 10-12 cents higher in Portland at $3.02-3.05.

SORGHUM: Sorghum prices closed mixed. Kansas City sorghum was uncahnged at $4.46 per cwt, while Texas sorghum rose 10 cents to $4.85-5.06.

OILSEEDS: Soybean prices fell through the week as lower crush figures and a relatively static Argentine-British confrontation pressured prices. Illinois processing points prices fell 10 cents to $6.33 1/2-6.36 1/2. Prices fell 7-10 cents at all other midwest reporting points. Minneapolis flaxseed rose 5 cents to $7.40. Duluth sunflower seed rose 25 cents to $12.58, and Minneapolis sunflower seed rose 70 cents to $12.50 as crusher demand increased.

SOURCE: FEDERAL GRAIN INSPECTION SERVICE

HIGHLIGHTS: Feedstuff prices traded mostly steady to higher during the week ended April 13. Most buying was on a hand to mouth basis. Supplies of many ingredients are tightening due to reduced running time at their production sites.

OILSEED MEAL: Soybean meal prices closed steady to slightly lower for 44 percent meal and slightly higher for the 48 percent meal. Domestic demand was moderate with purchases small to cover immediate needs only. Export booking of soybean meal was slow. Decatur cash unrestricted 44 percent fell $1.00 closing at $189.00, while 48 percent decatur soybean meal rose $1.00 to $205.00. Minneapolis soybean meal 44 percent fell $2.50 to $187.30.

COTTONSEED MEAL: Markets closed higher at all reporting points due to reduced supplies and steady buying interest. California solvent process cottonseed meal rose $11.50 to $169.00, other reporting stations all up $5.00 per ton. Minneapolis linseed meal moved $3.00 higher to $155.00 per ton as flax supplies available for crusing are down. Minneapolis sunflower seed meal held unchanged at $105.00, and Minneapolis sunflower seed oil held unchanged at 26 1/4 cents per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEINS: Meat meal markets closed steady to slightly higher in limited trading with buying confined to nearby needs. Kansas City meat meal rose $5.00 per ton to $225.00, and Los Angeles meat meal closed at $252.50, up $3.50 per ton. Minneapolis tankage rose $12.50 to $242.50 per ton due to reduced slaughter over the holiday weekend. Yellow grease finished unchanged. Fish meal prices closed unchanged.

CORN FEEDS: Hominy feed rose slightly during the week. Supplies of hominy feed for immediate shipment are tight due to reduced mill run time, and the price of hominy feed was attractive to buyers when compared to other ingredients. Illinois points hominy feed rose $2.00 per ton to $75.00, and Kansas City hominy feed rose $1.00 to $87.00. Corn gluten feed and meal prices held unchanged at all reporting points with steady production and a slight increase in domestic demand.

DISTILLERS' DRIED GRAINS: Brewers' dried grains continued to rise in price as supply is still very limited to cover fair buying interest. Chicago brewers dried grains rose $2.00 to $94.00, and Milwaukee and St. Louis brewers dried rose $2.00 each as well.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Wheat millfeed prices closed higher in most reporting locations except for the Eastern and Pacific Northwest locations. Reduced flour grind has caused spot shipment supplies to tighten. Forth Worth bran rose $6.00 to $100.00 per ton, midwest wheat millfeeds rose $2.00.

ALFALFA MARKET: Alfalfa prices closed unchanged. Supplies of dehydrated alfalfa products are being cleaned up by an increase in export business.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses markets held steady. Demand remains slow to fair and continues to show signs of a seasonal "slow-up". The brightest areas of molasses movement is the industrial users for the production of yeast. Supplies remain ample for trade reguiremnets. New Orleans molasses uncahnged at $50.00 per ton. Imports of molasses during February 1982 dropped to 26.9 M.T. compared to 175.8 M.T. during February 1981. Australia with 26.8 M.T. was the only significant supplier. Beet and citrus molasses markets were unchanged. Production of citrus molasses extremely light with outturn expected to increase this week as late maturing orange varieties are coming into production.

HIGHLIGHTS: Grain prices closed mixed during the week ended April 22. Trading was limited by continued tensions over the Falkland Islands. Forecast for favorable crop weather, warmer temperatures and rain in parts of the hard red winter wheat region, and sunshine across the corn belt to facililate planting, pressured prices. Barge movment of grains increased on the Mississippi River enough to cause almost a day and a half delay at the Alton, Illinois lock and dam.

WHEAT: Wheat prices moved slightly lower through the week. Mill buying was steady to easier compared to a week ago and new export sales were slight. Freezing temperatures penetrated as far south as Oklahoma were not expected to cause any major crop damage. Kansas City hard red winter wheat ordinary protein fell 2 1/4 cents per bushel. The hard red winter wheat crop is reported in better condition throughout the region. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat fell 1 cent per bushel. Portland soft white wheat finished the week unchanged. Soft red winter wheat fell 5 cents in Toledo and 5 1/2 cents lower in Chicago.

CORN: Corn prices closed mixed across the country. Forecasts for favorable planting weather in the midwest pressured prices and blunted any price gains. Kansas City multi-car No. 2 yellow corn rose 3 cents per bushel in moderate trading due to increased processor demand. St. Louis corn fell 2-3 cents per bushel. White corn market in Kansas City advanced 4 cents per bushel.

OATS AND BARLEY: Oat markets generally quiet this week with user inventories adequate. Minneapolis oats fell 5 cents in light trading. Minneapolis best malting barley was steady to 10 cents higher as lack of country selling supported prices. Feed barley markets moved slightly lower in Portland as exporters demand slackened, prices also fell slightly at California points with limited spot trading.

SORGHUM: Sorghum prices closed mostly higher for the week. Los Angeles prices rose 2 cents per cwt. Kansas City rail sorghum fell 5 cents but Texas sorghum closed steady to 10 cents higher. Exporter demand for gulf sorghum increased late in the week.

OILSEEDS: Soybean prices showed stregth during the week as farm selling was minimal and demand for soybean products increased. Illinois processing points soybean price rose 6-9 and Kansas City prices advanced 9 cents per bushel. Other reporting points finished with steady to slightly higher soybean prices. Minneapolis flaxseed fell 5 cents per bushel. Duluth sunflower seed fell 30 cents per cwt as needs for incoming ships were filled. Minneapolis sunflower seed closed unchanged with steady crush demand.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feedstuff prices traded steady to higher during the week ended April 20. Supplies of wheat millfeeds, hominy, and soybean meal have been reduced due to decreased production run time. Meat meal prices pressured by increasing pasturage and competitiveness of other ingredients.

OILSEED MEAL: Soybean meal prices closed slightly higher at most reporting points. Domestic and export demand for soybean meal increased slightly. Buying was confined to immediate needs. Decatur unrestricted 44 percent soybean meal rose $2.50 and 48 percent Decatur soybean meal was up $1.50 per ton. Minneapolis soybean meal 44 percent rose $1.30 as feeder demand increased due to freezing rain and snow across the upper midwest. Cottonseed meal markets closed moderately higher. California solvent process cottonseed meal rose $3.50 per ton. Memphis cottonseed meal solvent process showed the most gain of all reporting points, rising $7.50 per ton. Minneapolis linseed meal closed $1.00 per ton higher due to continued light crush. Minneapolis sunflower seed meal fell $5.00 per ton as resell offerings pressured prices. Minneapolis sunflower seed oil fell 3/4 cent per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEINS: Meat meal markets closed mostly steady to slightly lower as most traders looked at falling soybean meal prices through the early part of the reporting period for direction of meat meal purchases. Kansas City meat meal fell $5.00 and Buffalo fell $4.00 per ton. Minneapolis and Kansas tankage was down $2.50 and $5.00 per ton respectively. Fish meal markets closed unchanged with the new fishing season just underway off the east and gulf coast.

CORN FEEDS: Hominy feed prices rose during the week as supplies tightened and corn users increased buying. Illinois points hominy feed rose $8.00 and Kansas City averaged $1.00 higher per ton. Corn gluten feed and meal prices held steady with buyer demand matching the offerings and keeping supplies well cleaned up. Distillers dried grains traded at mostly unchanged price levels. Brewers dried grains continued to rise as supplies remain tight in front of expected increased in brewing for the summer. Milwaukee brewers dried grains rose $3.00 and St. Louis was up $4.00 per ton.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Wheat millfeeds closed higher supported by reduced flour run time. Fort Worth wheat bran rose $12.00 per ton and all other markets up $1.00-5.00 except Los Angeles, which closed steady.

ALFALFA MARKET: Alfalfa meal closed mostly higher across the country. Increased export shipping of dehydrated alfalfa pellets supported prices. Baled alfalfa hay of dairy quality is in very limited supply in the midwest, with new crop alfalfa two to four weeks away.

MOLLASSES: Feeding cane molasses maintained steady positions. Demand remains slow to fair, but under pressure of a seasonal slow up, supplies fully adequate for trade needs.

FEEDSTUFFS: PRODUCTION, FEBRUARY 1982..... 16

HIGHLIGHTS: Soybean markets turned sharply stronger during the week ended April 29. Farmer selling decreased as spring plowing and planting sharply reduced farmers time to market crops. U.S.D.A. supply/demand report indicated less soybeans on hand than expected. Brazil's harvest is being delayed by rains. Increased crush last week added support. Wheat markets trended mixed as flour mill demand lagged, export trade was fairly active, and much needed moisture was received in the Central Plains area. Soft red winter wheat markets softened under pressure of new crop heading in Southern areas. Feed grain markets showed a mostly stronger trend as farm selling fell off. Export corn loadings for the year showed an increase over the previous season, and feed usage was greater than expected.

WHEAT: Hard red winter market strength came mainly from expanded export trade and light farm selling as flour business slowed, reducing mill demand. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat closed up 1 cent but St. Louis soft red winter declined 8-9 cents per bushel. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat rose 2 1/4 cents and Portland soft white wheat moved up 2 cent per bushel. Minneapolis rye fell 10 cents per bushel.

CORN: Tight farm holding coupled with better than expected feed usage and larger year to date export movement gave support to cash corn markets as farmers offered little for sale. Kansas City No. 2 yellow corn rose 3 3/4 cents and the Minneapolis market advanced 5 3/4 cents per bushel. Kansas City white corn advanced 2 cents per bushel.

OATS AND BARLEY: Oats barley markets were not active as most farmers were busy planting spring crops. Oats unchanged to 1 cent lower per bushel at Minneapolis. Minneapolis best malting barley traded unchanged to up 5 cents per bushel. Feed barley trade is dull but lack of offerings firmed all but the Portland market which closed steady to 1 cent lower per bushel.

SORGHUM: Sorghum prices firmed under support of expected export movement, increased domestic feed usage, and tight farm holding. Kansas City market rose 5 cents and the Texas High Plains market up 5-10 cents per hundred pounds. Current market prices are 85 cents to $1.00 per hundred pounds below year ago level.

OILSEEDS: Soybean market advanced under broad support. Illinois processor point prices rose 14 1/2-15 1/2 cents per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed fell 5 cents per bushel. Lack of crusher buying depressed the market. Duluth sunflower seed advanced 20 cents per pound due to increased processor demand. Minneapolis sunflower seed oil moved up 1 1/4 cents per pound, tending to follow the soybean complex advancing market.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feedstuffs and feed grain markets moved in a mixed price trend during the week ended April 27. Demand slowed as many farmers were busy preparing and planting crops. Dairy cattle feeds moved well but beef cattle feeding declined as pasture showed seasonal improvement. Poultry feeding turned hand-to-mouth with poor feeding ratios discouraging stockpiling. Export demand eased.

OILSEED MEAL: Soybean meal closed mixed with slow demand depressing markets but with many plants taking down time. Supply tightened and some markets posted higher prices. Decatur 44 percent protein meal eased $1.00 lower per ton but the 48 percent protein meal finished unchanged. California mills solvent process cottonseed meal traded 50 cents lower but scarce supply moved the Memphis market $2.50 higher per ton. Minneapolis linseed meal rose $1.00 per ton as one large processor stopped production. Minneapolis sunflower seed meal advanced $10.00 per ton but sunflower seed oil traded unchanged.

ANIMAL PROTEINS: Animal proteins traded mixed in slowed trade. Demand eased as users bought sparingly but supply tightened as animal slaughter fell. Fort Worth meat meal fell $5.00 and the Minneapolis markets dropped $7.50 per ton. Minneapolis tankage held unchanged due to good supply demand balance. New crop fish meal depressed Gulf Coast port markets with offerings $25.00 lower per ton F.O.B. plants. West Coast meal remains in tight supply at steady prices.

CORN FEEDS: Yellow hominy feed is in tight supply and markets posted $4.00 per ton advanced at Illinois points and Kansas City. Corn gluten feed and meal markets were generally unchanged as on track offerings were cleaned up and processing plants were current on shipments. Brewers dried grains supply tightened but the markets was uneven due to slowed demand at some spots. Milwaukee market rose $3.00 but the St. Louis market fell $1.00 per ton. Scarce distillers dried grains traded steady at Chicago but moved $2.00 higher at Buffalo.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Flour mill grind picked up in the upper midwest but eased in most other areas. Seasonal reduction in range cattle pressured most millfeed markets lower. Kansas City midds fell $9.00, the Minneapolis markets dropped $10.00, and St. Louis market fell $5.00 per ton. Buffalo midds rose $2.00 as flour mills awaited arrival of lake shipments of lower cost wheat before increasing flour production. West Coast millrun markets moved higher as flour reduced grind.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Alfalfa markets turned stronger as new crop production lagged due to lack of adequate moisture in much of the production areas. Farmers were spraying for weevils, this also delayed harvest. Many early field are expected to produce only about 50 percent of the normal first cutting yield. Alfalfa center of Nebraska dehydrated alfalfa pellets rose $3.00 per ton. Reground meal markets traded steady to $3.00 per ton higher due to lack of odderings. Sun-cured alfalfa pellets held unchanged at Los Angeles but midwestern markets were generally $2.00 higher due to tight supply. Baled alfalfa hay markets were unchanged in slow trade.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molases markets maintained steady positions. Demand continues to be influenced by a seasonal slow-up and generally rated slow to fair. Many supplies reported sales were better at the $100.00 per ton level than at current quotations.

DISTILLERS' AND BREWERS' DRIED GRAINS: U.S. PRODUCTION AND STOCKS, MARCH 1982..... 16

HIGHLIGHTS: Wheat and feed grain markets sold at mostly lower price levels during the week ended May 6. The market weakness was attributed to favorable crop conditions over most of the world's major production areas. In addition, light flour mill run time of mostly 3-4 days, Canada's negotiations for large sales of wheat to Russia, China and Algeria and an easing of political tension weighed on demand. Declines were tempered by tight farmer holding due to heavy land preparation, fertilization and planting schedules. Corn and soybean inspections for export contributed limited support.

WHEAT: Wheat markets showed a weak undertone as flour grind was light, winter wheat crop conditions improved, spring wheat planting made favorable progress and Canada negotiated large wheat sales to various countries. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat declined 8 cents to $4.20 per bushel. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat sold 4 cents lower to $4.24 per bushel. Portland soft white wheat showed a firmer trend with good export demand and prices were 1-2 cents higher at $4.18-4.19 per bushel.

CORN: Corn traded mixed with tight farmer holding offsetting large stocks and good planting progress of the new crop. Kansas City No. 2 yellow corn sold 3 cents higher to $2.83 per bushel. Minneapolis sold 2 cents lower to $2.67 per bushel. Milling quality while corn sold 4 cents lower at $2.67 per bushel Kansas City.

OATS AND BARLEY: Oats trading was slow with nearby requirements covered. Minneapolis sold steady to 1 cent higher at $2.10-2.25 per bushel. Minneapolis best malting barley traded steady to 5 cents higher at $3.05-3.15 per bushel due to good demand for light receipts by malsters and exporters. Stockton feed barley held steady all week at $3.17-3.19 per bushel.

SORGHUM: Most interest in No. 2 yellow sorghum was to load waiting ships at Gulf ports. Kansas City sold 2 cents higher to $4.48 per cwt and the Texas High Plains market was steady to 10 cents higher at $5.00-5.20 per cwt.

OILSEEDS: New soybean export sales were 13 percent less than last week's pace and tight farm holding failed to provide support. Illinois prices sold 5 cents lower at $6.45-6.55 per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed sold 5 cents lower to $7.25 per bushel as crusher demand was light. Duluth sunflower seed declined 15 cents to $12.60 per cwt. Minneapolis sunflower oil rose 3/4 cent to 26 3/4 cents per pound due to reduced crush and tightened supplies.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feedstuffs and feed grains traded in mixed trends but overall showed slightly higher prices. Domestic feeder demand was seasonally light due to improved pastures and farmer's were busy with fieldwork. Good export buying gave limited support.

OILSEED MEAL: Soybean meal traded mostly higher but showed some weakness where processing plants expanded crush. Decatur prices were $3.50 higher to $194.00 per ton for 44 percent and to $210.00 per ton for 48 percent protein meal. Kansas City declined $2.50 for 48 percent and sold $3.50 lower for 44 percent protein meal after two local plants resumed operations. Solvent process cottonseed meal traded steady at all markets except Memphis where light demand forced the market $5.00 lower to $150.00 per ton. Minneapolis' light flaxseed crush raised linseed meal prices $3.00 to $160.00 per ton but sunflower seed meal was unchanged at $110.00 per ton. Sunflower oil sold 1/2 cent lower to 26 cents per pound at Minneapolis.

ANIMAL PROTEINS: Meat meal markets turned lower as recent higher prices reduced formulation and stocks showed accumulation. Prices were $2.50-5.00 per ton lower at most reporting points. Minneapolis tankage fell $10.00 to $230.00 per ton. Feather meal markets dropped $5.00 per ton due to light demand and a recent increase in production as Turkey slaughter expanded. Fish meal markets were steady in thin trading with supplies and demand light.

CORN FEEDS: Corn feeds were steady to firm as light production and good export buying offset light domestic feeder demand. Slightly higher cash corn markets contributed support. Yellow hominy feed traded steady at $78.00 per ton in Illinois and $2.00 higher to $94.00 per ton at Kansas City. Corn gluten feed and 60 percent protein gluten meal traded steady with some pressure on the meal due to narrow poultry feeding margins. Scarce brewers dried grain offerings traded $2.00-7.00 per ton higher. Distillers dried grains are in tight supply and sold steady to $1.00 per ton higher.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Flour mill grind rate influenced wheat millfeed prices as usage slowed seasonally as pastures improved. Buffalo mills picked up a little run time as lower cost lake shipment wheat became available but other areas showed reduced mill run time as export contracts were filled. Buffalo middlings sold $2.00 lower to $98.00 per ton. Kansas City, Minneapolis and St. Louis advanced $1.00-3.00 per ton.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Nearby new crop production pressured prices but tight stocks and increased production cost moved some markets higher. Alfalfa center, dehydrated alfalfa pellets traded $2.00 higher at $82.00 per ton. Los Angeles sun-cured alfalfa pellets traded $1.00 higher at $128.00 per ton.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses sold mostly steady. California prices were higher as tight supplies due to problems with in shipments from Hawaii continued to plague distribution. Demand light to moderate as summer time feeding operations prevail throughout much of the country. Improved inquiry from feedlots in the southwest was noted from most suppliers, however, discounts out of Houston were reported. Supplies adequate for trade needs. Mexico has up to 5 cargoes of molasses for sale this week. Reports indicate 2 cargoes are on the Pacific Ocean side and up to 3 cargoes are on the Gulf side. Beet and citrus molasses markets sold steady. Supplies of citrus molasses remain short, while beet molasses supplies were adequate to surplus for trade needs.

HIGHLIGHTS: Soybean markets turned higher during the week ended May 13. Most of the strength originated in reports of reduced Brazilian crop prospects, tight farmer holding, and expected decrease in world supplies. Wheat markets were mixed with tight farmer holding and continued good export demand partially offset by improved crop prospect in U.S. and Russian hard red winter wheat areas. China's increasing drought condition gave support to soft red wheat but was countered by nearby harvest is southern areas. Feed grains received market support from the 81 percent of base acreage sign up by farmers in the set aside program and Mexico's purchase of 453,000 tons of sorghum during the week. A weaker tone was established by reports indicating higher world feed grain stocks.

WHEAT: Kansas City hard red winter wheat moved moderately higher with ordinary protein 9 cents higher per bushel. tight farm holding, rain delayed new crop harvest, and mills buying to replace grind furnished most showed strength. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat showed strength at mid period on export trade but increased farmer selling forced the market 10 cents lower at $4.15 per bushel. Portland soft white wheat advanced 4-5 cents at $4.23 per bushel.

CORN: Increasing prospects for a larger world feed grain supply coupled with reduced feeding prospects in U.S. cattle and swine areas pressured yellow corn markets. Kansas City No. 2 yellow corn sold 4 cents lower to $2.79 per bushel. Minneapolis sold 5-6 cents lower at $2.62-2.63 per bushel. Kansas City milling quality white corn trading was slow and prices held steady at $2.67 per bushel.

OATS AND BARLEY: Oats trading was slow and prices were mixed. Minneapolis heavy oats traded steady to 5 cents higher at $2.15-2.25 per bushel. Barley sold mixed with light domestic feed trade, but improved export and malting demand. Minneapolis best malting barley was unchanged at $3.05-3.15 per bushel in spite of expanded farm offerings. Minneapolis feed barley sold 6 cents lower to $2.23 per bushel but Portland sold 2-5 cents higher at $3.05-3.07 due to steady export loadings and tight farm holding.

SORGHUM: Sorghum markets received support from Mexico's purchase of 453,000 tons but nearby new crop pressure and large old crop supplies weighed on demand. Kansas City closed 5 cents lower at $4.43 per hundred pounds.

OILSEEDS: Soybean markets were slightly higher under broad support of reduced Brazilian crop prospects, decreased carryover and tight farm holding. Illinois processing prices were 6-7 cents higher at $6.52-6.61 per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed was steady at $7.25 per bushel. Duluth sunflower seed sold 15 cents higher to $12.75 per hundred pounds.

HIGHLIGHTS: Spring pasture growth slowed feed usage during the week ended May 11. Price showed a mixed trend with slow demand causing a weaker tone while tight supply forced some spot market strength. Reduced swine and turkey numbers cut into feed usage. Tight holding of soybeans at the farm level caused tightness of supply at processing plants and this firmed soybean meal markets.

OILSEED MEAL: Soybean meal market moved a little higher due to tight supply of soybeans at crushing plants. Decatur 44 percent protein soybean meal rose $1.50 but the 48 percent protein soybean meal rose only 50 cents per ton. California mills solvent cottonseed meal held steady but southern mills offerings traded $5.00-7.50 per ton lower as usage declined when pastures shoed seasonal improvement. Minneapolis solvent linseed meal held unchanged due to tight supply as demand remained slow. Minneapolis sunflower meal fell $5.00 per ton and sunflower oil sold unchanged at 26 cents per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEINS: Animal proteins have been supported by close supply-demand relationships and firm soybean meal prices. A slight drop in usage occured as mixed feed production fell off and pressure to sell caused market weakness for meat meal. Most reporting markets posted a $2.50 per ton decline. Minneapolis tankage fell $2.50 per ton. Fish meal markets remained firm in spite of slow demand as supplies contunue very tight. Most markets were unchanged but the East Coast price moved up $15.00 per ton due to slow new crop start.

CORN FEEDS: Corn feeds showed a mixed trend as most cash corn markets moved higher but slow feed mixer business caused spot weakness. Corn gluten feed held unchanged with values supported by tightness in wheat millfeeds, brewers' and distillers' dried grains. Corn gluten meal markets firmed a little as soybean meal markets turned higher. Yellow hominy feed turned higher with the Illinois points market $2.00 lower but the kansas City market up $4.00 per ton on extremly tight supply situation.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Slowed flour mill grind was offset by reduced feed mixer demand. Spot tightness caused market strength at Buffalo and Los Angeles.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Alfalfa markets showed little activity as old crop supplies are nearby exhausted and new crop production has been delayed by late freeze and cool nights. Alfalfa center, Nebraska dehydrated alafalfa pellets offered generally unchanged with occassional spot trades sharply above this level. The Minneapolis reground meal market rose $5.00 per ton. Sun-cured alfalfa pellet and baled alfalfa hay markets inactive due to tight supply and lack of buying interest.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses markets remained unchanged. Feeding requirements slow as greening pastures reduce needs. Tight supply situation on the West Coast due to lack of transport and production slow down maintains the California quotes. Reports of discounting out of the Houston area and a softening European price structure tends to lend a weaker undertone. Beet and citrus molasses supplies tight with citrus fully allocated and present supplies of beet molasses being retained for sugar refinery needs.

HIGHLIGHTS: Wheat and feed grains moved mostly higher during the week ended May 20. Factors contributing strength was tight farm holding, delayed winter wheat harvest due to rainy and cool weather in Southern areas, adverse weather in India and Russian grain areas, the worseing political situation in Falkland Islands, and stronger precious metals markets. Slowed export demand for hard red winter wheat limited market gains at the close. Soybeans and soybean meal export demand expanded as the Brazilian export potential continues to decrease.

WHEAT: Kansas City wheat market turned strong as rains and cool nights delayed new crop winter wheat harvest in Southern areas but slowed export trade took part of the strength away at the close. Hard red winter ordinary protein wheat closed up 4 3/4 cents per bushel. St. Louis soft red winter wheat rose 12 cents and Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat rose 3 1/2 cents per bushel. Portland soft white under pressure of heavy export movement advanced 6 cents per bushels.

CORN: Yellow corn markets ranged higher as tight farm holding, continued good export movement, and rain delayed planting added strength. Markets advanced 1-6 cents per bushel. Kansas City milling quality white corn market dull and 1 cent lower per bushel.

OATS AND BARLEY: Oats market dull with little buying or selling interest. Minneapolis heavy oats feel 8-15 cents per bushel. Minneapolis best malting barley traded generally unchanged as tight receipts countered an earlier weaker tone. Feed barley demand slow, the Minneapolis market fell 4 cents and Portland eased 2-3 cents lower per bushel.

SORGHUM: Yellow sorghum traded mixed with the Kansas City market supported by tight farmer holding and exporter buying to cover the balance of the recent export sale to Mexico and the market moved up 11 cents per cwt. The Texas High Plains market fell 10 cents per cwt.

OILSEEDS: Rain delayed planting and a pick up in soybeans and soybean meal export trade firmed soybean markets. Illinois crusher prices rose 9-10 cents per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed rose 5 cents per bushel. Duluth sunflower seed dropped 20 cents per hundred pounds. Sunflower seed oil market steady at Minneapolis.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feed grains and feedstuffs sold mostly lower during the week ended May 18. Demand showed no signs of improving as high interest rates kept domestic buying hand to mouth and pastures furnished much of animal requirements. Moisture conditions improved over most of the country as a cold front moved from the Pacific Coast to the Atlantic during the past two weeks, producing fair amounts of rainfall. Weather permitting, farmers were busy preparing and planting land. Export trade slowed as the common markets considered raising tariffs on some feedstuffs to take effect August 1.

OILSEED MEAL: Soybean meal was mixed as export trade eased and domestic feeding continued hand to mouth. Decatur sold $1.50 lower to $194.00 per ton for 44 percent and to $209.00 per ton for 48 percent protein meal. Other markets sold from 50 cents lower to $1.40 per ton higher depending on local supply - demand position. Cottonseed meal markets were mixed with western area prices $2.50-5.00 higher while southern production traded unchanged to $2.50 per ton lower. Minneapolis linseed meal was firm at $160.00 per ton with production and demand very light. Minneapolis sunflower seed meal sold $5.00 lower to $100.00 per ton due to slow usage for the light supply. Sunflower oil sold 1/2 cent higher at 26 1/2 cents per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEINS: In spite of fairly tight supply of meat meal, the market was mostly lower due to light feed mixer usage. Most markets declined around $2.50 per ton except for Minneapolis which was reported steady for meat meal and tankage. Feather meal supplies showed a little increased production and prices held steady with a slightly weaker undertone. Light fish meal supplies showed a steady to higher trend as fishing continued less than satifactory in Gulf waters. Gulf port prices were $5.00 higher at 355.00 per ton.

CORN FEEDS: Corn feeds showed a mostly steady pattern as moderate production continued to move readily into domestic and export channels. Corn gluten feed steady at $112.00 per ton, Kansas City or Chicago. 60 percent protein gluten meal unchanged at $225.00 Chicago and $235.00 per ton at Kansas City. Illinois points yellow hominy feed was $2.00 lower to $83.00 per ton but was unchanged at other production points. Distillers dried grains were unchanged with usage and production light. Brewers dried grains showed a weaker tone as production expanded and prices were $1.00-3.00 per ton lower in production areas.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Flour mill grind showed only limited expansion and the slight increase in production pressed most markets lower as feed usage is seasonally slow. Pelleting for export took some pressure off. Buffalo midds sold $4.00 lower to $95.00 per ton, Kansas City declined $6.00 to $74.00 per ton and the Minneapolis was $4.00 lower to $70.00 per ton. Los Angeles millrun sold $3.50 higher to $114.50 per ton.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: New crop alfalfa production continues to be delayed by cool nights and scattered rains. Improved export demand last week tightened dehydrated alfalfa meal supplies. Dehydrated alfalfa pellets were available in small quantities in the Platte Valley of Nebraska at $82.00 per ton. Minneapolis reground meal sold $5.00 higher at $110.00 per ton. Sun-Cured alfalfa trade was slow at steady prices.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses sold steady. Demand continues to register a seasonal slow-up. Feedlots throughout the Texas Panhandle continue to inquire about molasses as the price differential between grain and molasses narrows. Supplies are adequate for current trade needs. Beet and citrus molasses prices are nominal. Supplies have either been allocated to regular customers or contracted for the remainder of the season.

HIGHLIGHTS: Wheat and feed grains moved generally lower across the Nation during the week ended May 22. Improved World Crop prospects, the Rotterdam dock. Workers strike and poor world economy weighed against values. U.S. crop prospects improved under generally good moisture conditions which permitted resumption of spring planting over wide areas. Wheat inspections for export slipped a little for last week but the annual cumulative figure continues to exceed last season. Corn exports showed a weekly rise but cumulative total continues to fall short of last year. Soybean weekly figures fell but cumulative totals exceeds last season.

WHEAT: Hard red winter wheat harvest has been delayed by rain but production prospects have expanded by the plentiful moisture supply in midwestern states. Export demand eased and flour mill grind was slow. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat declined 24 1/2 cents, down 28 1/2 cents per bushel from the comparable date last season. St. Louis soft red winter wheat fell 11 cents per bushel down 28-29 cents from last season. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat eased 3 3/4 cents lower per bushel, down 56 1/2 cents from a year ago. Portland soft white wheat eased 3 cents lower in spite of fairly good export trade and reduced prospection yields for this season's crop. The current price is down 4-5 cents from last year.

CORN: Yellow corn markets declined generally 3-5 cents per bushel as export trade declined. The main loss was to Japan who has turned to South Africa for increased amounts of their corn needs. The Omaha market fell 3-4 1/2 cents per bushel. Kansas City declined 5 1/2 cents, and the Minneapolis market fell 5 cents per bushel. Current prices are about 60 cents per bushel under year ago price level. Kansas City milling quality white dull and 1 cent lower, down 2.45 per bushel from last season.

OATS AND BARLEY: Heavy oats moved mixed with Minneapolis steady to 8 cents higher and Toledo 5-20 cents per bushel lower. Minnepaolis best malting barley traded unchanged all week, but is down 65-75 cents per bushel from last year. Feed barley markets declined under increased stocks carryover with prices 2-7 cents per bushel lower at most markets.

SORGHUM: Sorghum traded mixed with the Kansas City market down 6 cents or 86 cents per hundred pounds below a year ago. Texas High Plains market steady to 5 cents higher.

OILSEEDS: Soybean markets trended lower all week as the Rotterdam dock workers strike limited trade for soybeans and meal. Illinois processor bean bids fell 27-28 cents and this is 1.17 1/2-1.18 1/2 per bushel last season. Minneapolis flaxseed rose 5 cents but this is down 1.15 per bushel from last season. Duluth sunflower seed declined 55 cents, down 1.10 per hundred pounds from last year. Minneapolis sunflower seed oil dropped 1/2 cent.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feedstuffs and feed grains moved in a mixed trend, but averaged lower during the week ended May 25. High interest rates continues to discourage feed stockpiling and buying is strictly for immediate needs. Ample pasturage cut animal feed requirements. A dock workers strike in Europe limited export trading. Alfalfa markets firmed as old crop supplies are nearly exhausted and rain continues to delay new crop production.

OILSEED MEAL: Soybean meal markets declined sharply as heavier crush and reduced export demand pressured the market. Decatur market fell $8.00 per ton for 44 percent and 48 percent protein meal. Cottonseed meal trade thin with tight stocks and slow demand. Most markets were unchanged. Minneapolis solvent linseed meal held firmly, sunflower seed meal steady, and sunflower oil unchanged.

ANIMAL PROTEINS: Meat meal traded in a mixed trend as tight supply was offset by lower cost soybean meal. Fort Worth market advanced $2.00 but the Minneapolis market declined $5.00 per ton. Minneapolis tankage eased $2.50 lower per ton. Feather meal markets were barely steady with offerings and demand light. Fish meal markets were mostly unchanged but the East Coast market fell $5.00 per ton due to extremly slow demand.

CORN FEEDS: Corn feeds have been supported recent firm cash corn markets and scarce by-product supply. Demand eased a little and spot weakness developed. Also, spot strength developed where thin supplies met steady demand. Corn gluten feed and meal traded generally steady in a well balanced supply-demand situation. Yellow hominy feed scarce and up $2.00 at Illinois points. Brewers' dried grain began to weaken as production showed seasonal expansion. Distillers' dried grains seasonally short and markets were steady to $5.00 higher per ton.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Flour mill grind holds steady with a holiday cutting into next weeks production. Wheat middlings showed a mixed price trend. Feed mixer demand remains slow. Buffalo midds fell $10.00 but Kansas City rose $3.00 per ton. Los Angeles millrun eased 50 cents lower per ton.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Old crop alfalfa stocks are nearly exhausted and rains continue to delay new crop production over large areas. Demand remains seasonally slow due to good pastures. Alfalfa Center Nebraska dehydrated alfalfa pellets rose $3.00 per ton. Suncured alfalfa trade thin with slow demand very little offerings. Los Angeles sun cured alfalfa pellets went up $1.00 per ton.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses markets maintained mostly steady positions during the week ended May 24. California prices were $3.00 higher to unchanged as availability of supplies continued to be a problem. Underlying undertin rather soft as summertime feeding requirements weigh heavily on demand. Supplies are adequate for a slow demand.

WEEKLY SUMMARY	12
FEEDSTUFFS: WHOLESALE PRICES	13-14
FEEDSTUFFS: U.S. EXPORTS, APRIL 1982	15
FEEDSTUFFS: U.S. IMPORTS, APRIL 1982	15

HIGHLIGHTS: Winter wheat harvest pressured grain markets throughout the country as harvest tempo began to pick up. Cool, rainy weather continues to delay ripening in the midwest. High river stages stopped barge loading on parts of the river system to the Gulf. Grain inspections for export figures had little effect in the market as the totals were about wheat traders had expected. The continued Rotterdam dock workers strike, lower precious metal markets, and the strong U.S. dollar restricted export trade. Flour mills bought wheat only to replace grind while waiting for new crop movement to make larger purchases. Farm selling confined to spot clean out of bins with most farmers not anxious to sell at current price levels.

WHEAT: Wheat markets were affected by the slow export trade, nearby new crop supplies of winter wheat, and a reluctance to build stocks ahead of general new crop harvest. Poor economy and higher interest rates a deterrent to trade. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat eased 3 1/4 cents lower per bushel. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat moved 1 1/2 cents lower and Portland soft white traded 4-7 cents lower per bushel.

CORN: Yellow corn mostly lower as domestic and export trade slowed. Kansas City No. 2 yellow corn fell 2 1/2 cents and Minneapolis market dipped 2 3/4 cents lower per bushel. Kansas City millings quality white corn held unchanged all week.

OATS AND BARLEY: Markets dull with little buying interest ahead of new crop harvest. Minneapolis heavy oats steady to up 10 cents per bushel. Minneapolis best malting barley traded unchanged to up 5 cents but feed barley declined 9 cents per bushel. Portland western barley down 3 cents per bushel.

SORGHUM: Yellow sorghum traded mixed with the Kansas City market dropping 8 cents per hundred pounds following the export market down. Los Angeles sorghum moved higher all week and closed up 11-12 cents per hundred pounds.

OILSEEDS: Oilseed markets weakened after good moisture was received in dry areas of the corn and soybean belt. Illinois processor point soybeans declined 17-20 cents per bushel. Minnepaolis flaxseed fell 10 cents per bushel. Duluth sunflower seed dropped 30 cents per hundred pounds. Minneapolis sunflower seed fell 1 cent per pound.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feedstuffs and feed grains moved to mostly lower price levels during the week ended June 2. Demand showed spotty pick up to domestic users but poor export demand, poor economy, and high interest rates maintained a weak tone for most markets.

OILSEED MEAL: The Rotterdam dock workers strike, strong U.S. dollar, and weaker precious metals markets slowed export demand for soybean meal. Decatur soybean meal market fell $3.00 for 44 percent and 48 percent protein. California mills solvent cottonseed meal held unchanged but southern mills dropped $5.00 per ton as pastures supplied most range cattle needs. Minneapolis solvent linseed meal remained in tight supply and quoted steady. Minneapolis sunflower seed advanced $10.00 for the limited nearby supply but sunflower seed oil declined 1 1/2 cents per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEINS: Meat meal trended mixed as fully adequate supplies met good feeder demand due to favorable price relationship with vegatable proteins. Fort Worth market rose $2.50, Kansas City market fell $5.00, and the Minneapolis market eased $2.50 lower per ton. Fish meal held unchanged on the West Coast but Gulf and East Coast Port markets fell $10.00 per ton as Menhadden fish catch turned heavy last week and demand remained slow.

CORN FEEDS: Illinois points yellow hominy feed eased $2.00 lower but the Kansas City market continued firm due to tight supply. Corn gluten feed traded unchanged at Chicago and Kansas City but demand slowed due to good pastures and the Rotterdam dock workers strike limited export demand. The market had a weak undertone and quoted prices were discouraged into Eastern U.S. areas. Corn gluten 60 percent protein meal barely steady as demand eased and other protein feeds continue to weaken.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Good pastures limited demand but reduced flour mill grind tightened supply. Pelleting for export kept offerings cleaned up and markets moved mixed. Buffalo middlings fell $3.00, the Minneapolis markets rose $2.00, and the Kansas City market advanced $5.00 per ton. Los Angeles mill run held steady.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Rain over large areas hampered alfalfa production and much first cutting has been lost. Producers storage bins are nearly empty and immediate shipment material is very scarce. Alfalfa center, Nebraska market held steady for dehydrated alfalfa pellets. Reground meal markets were reported unchanged. Los Angeles sun-cured alfalfa pellets traded up $3.00 per ton. Baled alfalfa hay scarce with practically no demand and little offered for sale. The market was extremely quiet.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses markets closed in steady positions. Firmer tone noted in the Houston area, unseasonably slow at New Orleans, price discounting in the California area as supply availability improving price differences between U.S. and Europe making it difficult to obtain molasses in the Gulf area.Trade sources indicate distribution of molasses up approximately 30 percent from last year and the cost is more compatible with feed grain prices. Very little inventory building due to high interest rates and trading reported mostly on a hand-to-mouth basis in many areas.

HIGHLIGHTS: Most wheat and feed grain markets moved at higher price levels during the week ended June 10. Market strength originated mostly from tight farm holding and rain delayed harvest and planting operations. Export demand was generally slow due to strong U.S. dollar and congestion at Rotterdam ports where the dock workers strike was recently settled.

WHEAT: Wheat market strength came as farmers held old crop supply tightly, new crop harvest was delayed by rains, and flour mills needed supplies to fill nearby commitments. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat advanced 14 3/4 cents per bushel. St. Louis soft red winter wheat rose 2-3 cents and Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat went up 2 3/4 cents per bushel. Portland soft white wheat rose 2 cents per busehl.

CORN: Yellow corn markets advanced as rains delayed new crop planting and farmers held tightly to old crop supplies. Rain and cloudy skies delayed pasture development and feeder business expanded a little. Kansas City No. 2 yellow corn rose 4 1/2 cents per bushel. The Minneapolis market advanced 8 1/4 cents and the Omaha market is up 5 cents per bushel. Kansas City milling quality white corn moved up 5 cents per bushel following the strength in yellow corn.

OATS AND BARLEY: Oats markets showed little activity during the week and the Minneapolis market held steady. Minneapolis best malting barley traded steady to 5 cents lower as receipts were heavier than brewers needed during the week. Minneapolis feed barley rose 14 cents due to a pick up in export demand. Other markets showed a mostly steady to slightly easier trend as new crop harvest neared.

SORGHUM: Yellow sorghum markets were supported by tight farm holding, higher cash corn markets, and delayed new crop planting. Kansas City yellow sorghum rose 22 cents per hundred pounds.

OILSEEDS: Soybean market strength originated mostly from tight farmer holding as new crop planting progress lagged due to rain. High water stage delayed barge loading and river traffic was at a standstill at sime points on the Missouri river. Illinois processor point soybean price advanced 13 1/2 - 17 cents per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed held unchanged. Duluth sinflower seed eased 10 cents lower per hundred pounds. Minnapaolis sunflower oil rose 1/4 cents per pound.

SOURCE: FEDERAL GRAIN INSPECTION SERVICE

HIGHLIGHTS: Feedstuffs demand continued slow during the week ended June 8. Spot strength developed from tight supply of meat meal and cottonseed meal. Rotterdam dock workers strike settlement picked up export interest at the close. Farmers held grain tightly which added some support to soybean meal and corn feeds.

OILSEED MEAL: Soybean meal supply tightened as processors took down time and farmers held soybeans tightly. Export interest picked up at the close. Decatur soybean meal traded $2.00 lower for 44 percent and 48 percent protein meal. Other markets ranged up to $3.00 per ton higher. Cottonseed meal markets traded mixed with the California market unchanged for solvent process but tightening supply forced southwestern meal up $2.50 per ton. Minneapolis solvent linseed meal held unchanged, sunflower meal steady but sunflower oil rose 1 cent per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEINS: Meat meal markets trended mixed as strike activity tightened supplies in midwestern markets and slowed demand eased markets at Buffalo and Texas. Fort Worth meat meal fell $5.00, Kansas City market rose $5.00 and Minneapolis market held steady for tankage. Feather meal markets weakened under pressure of increased offerings and slow demand. Fish meal markets were steady with production increasing and demand slow.

CORN FEEDS: Stronger cash corn markets and settled Rotterdam dock workers strike contributed support to corn feed markets but slow domestic demand continued to weigh against values. Illinois points yellow hominy feed rose $1.00 but the Kansas City market fell $3.00 per ton. Corn gluten feed and meal markets were generally unchanged. Increased brewer's dried grains supply pressured the market $3.00 lower per ton at Boston and St.Louis. Distillers' dried grains scarce and mostly unchanged.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Flour mill grind slowed but slow feed mixer demand weighed against values. Buffalo middlings fell $3.00, Kansas City market closed $2.00 lower but the Minneapolis market rose $3.00 per ton.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: New crop alfalfa production expanded slightly and slow demand prssured dehydrated alfalfa meal markets. Alfalfa center, Nebraska dehydrated alfalfa pellets eased $2.00 lower and a few reground meal markets also reflected a $2.00 per ton drop. Sun-cured alfalfa supplies extremely tight, demand slow, and markets unchanged.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses markets closed mostly steady except California $2.00-3.00 lower. Increased inquiry noted in Texas while imports were limited in the Gulf area but slightly increased in California. Movement seasonally slow with limited soft demand at most locations. Molasses markets nominal with non-allocated stocks in short supply. Some inquiry from industrial users noted for fall supplies of beet molasses.

WEEKLY SUMMARY..... 12

FEEDSTUFFS: WHOLESALE PRICES.....13-14

AUTOMATIC TELEPHONE REPORTING SERVICE..... 15

HIGHLIGHTS: Grain and soybean prices closed lower for the week ended June 17. Negative influences on all markets were the sharply lower financial futures, lower precious metals, and a strong U.S. dollar which restricted foreign buying.Continued high interest rates with the prime rising slightly at a major bank further limited buying interest.

WHEAT: Wheat prices were mixed with hard red winter wheat prices falling sharply in the face of expanding harvest and other wheat prices closing steady to slightly lower. Kansas City hard red winter wheat ordinary protein fell 15 cents to $4.04 per bushel. The U.S.D.A.'s latest winter wheat production estimate indicated a record U.S. 1982 harvest and projects the highest carryover next June 1 in 20 years. St. Louis soft red winter wheat closed 1-2 cents higher to $3.20-3.22 per bushel. Soft red winter wheat prices were mostly steady this week as new crop harvest process was slowed by rains and cool weather. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat sold 3 cents lower to $4.13 per bushel. Portland soft white wheat was unchanged at $4.21, per bushel.

CORN: Yellow corn markets closed slightly to moderately lower as demand was light. Corn planting is virtually complete and too much rainfall in midwestern areas has some fields under water. Kansas City No. 2 yellow corn closed 1 cent lower at $2.78 per bushel. Minneapolis sold 3 cents lower to $2.65 and Omaha sold 2-3 cents lower to 2.65-2.67. Kansas City milling quality white corn was steady at $2.70 per bushel in light trading.

OATS AND BARLEY: Oat prices fell as nearby demand was satisfied and buying was slow. The Minneapolis oat market closed 10-12 cents lower at $1.98-2.15 per bushel. Minneapolis best malting barley traded steady to 40 cents lower at $2.50-3.20 per bushel under pressure of heavy rail receipts. Minneapolis feed barley fell 15 cents to $2.11 per bushel. California barley was steady to slightly higher as new crop offerings have been delayed by cool temperatures.

SORGHUM: Yellow sorghum markets were pressured moderately to sharply lower by approaching new crop harvest in the southern states. Kansas City yellow sorghum sold 8 cents lower to $4.54 per cwt. Texas High Plains sorghum prices closed steady to 10 cents lower at $5.15-5.35 per cwt.

OILSEEDS: Soybean markets closed moderately lower despite limited country movement. Some growers in the western midwest are switching from corn to soybeans this spring due to earlier rains which kept the fields from being put into corn. A strong dollar overseas also pressured soybean prices. Illinois processor soybean prices sold 7-8 cents lower to $6.24-6.32 per bushel. At other reporting points soybean prices were 4-8 cents lower. Minneapolis flaxseed declined 30 cents to $6.95 per bushel with limited crusher demand. Duluth sunflower seed fell 30 cents to $11.30 per cwt. Minneapolis sunflower oil sold 3/4 cents lower to 24 1/2 cents per pound.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feedstuffs traded in a mixed price trend for the week ended June 15. Tight holding of grain supported soybean meal and corn feeds, while improved demand strengthened midwest meat meal prices. Wheat millfeeds rose as flour grind decreased.

OILSEED MEAL: Soybean meal prices rose $3.00-4.00 at all reporting points following the futures prices higher and supported by limited selling of soybeans into the processors. Buying was mostly limited to nearby needs and export demand was slow. Decatur soybean meal 44 percent rose $4.50, and 48 percent rose $3.50 per ton. Cottonseed meal markets held steady at most reporting points. Tightening supplies in the northern reaches of the cotton belt boosted Memphis solvent process cottonseed meal prices $10.00 per ton. Minneapolis solvent linseed meal held steady in spite of tight supplies in the face of fair demand. Sunflower seed meal fell $10.00 per ton as demand continued light for limited nearby supplies. Sunflower seed oil fell 1 cent per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEINS: Meat meal markets trended mixed, prices rising in the midwest markets and holding steady at other locations. Prices were supported by an increase in demand and a plant shut down in Iowa that diverted supplies. Kansas City meat meal rose $7.50 and Minneapolis rose $15.00 per ton. Feather meal prices closed steady with a weaker undertone as supplies increased. Fish meal markets held steady on the East and West Coasts, but fell $10.00 per ton at the Gulf.

CORN FEEDS: Hominy feed prices closed steady to slightly higher as mill run time slowed and demand for immediate shipments held firm. Illinois points hominy rose $2.00 per ton but Kansas City hominy held steady. Corn gluten feed and meal prices held steady with a firm tone in the domestic and export market. Increasing brewers' dried grains' supply pressured prices lower at all reporting points; Milwaukee and St. Louis fell $5.00, and Boston fell $10.00 per ton. Distillers' dried grains' closed mostly steady to slightly higher at Buffalo as extensive down time in plants this summer is expected.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Reduced flour mill run time and increased export demand boosted millfeed prices $2.00-3.00 per ton. Minneapolis bran gained $5.00, Kansas City rose $3.00, and Buffalo rose $2.00 per ton.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Alfalfa prices showed a slight declined as demand remains slack in hand-to-mouth buying despite production being well behind schedule due to excessive moisture. Export demand slowed as the dollar strengthened overseas. Alfalfa Center Nebraska dehydrated alfalfa pellets fell $1.00 per ton. Sun-cured markets were slighty lower.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses markets closed the week in steady positions. Demand seasonally slow as molasses distribution approaches the historically low point of the year. Lack of demand and high replacement costs held prices unchanged.Supplies reported more than adequate to meet current level of movement. Competition keen as price discounting in some eastern markets persists. Beet molasses present supplies are fully contracted. Very little new crop has been contracted with the forecast at 1/3 lower as crop acreage down along with a lower tonnage projection.

HIGHLIGHTS: Cool, wet weather continued to delay spring planting and winter wheat harvest. Corn planting was virtually complete across the nation with some remaining acreage being switched to soybeans in the midwest. Tight holding at the farm level contributed support to markets but high interest rates and poor world wide economic conditions depressed trade. Record corn stocks figure contributed weakness to feed grain markets. Soybean stocks were lower and coupled with tight farm holding turned cash soybean markets stronger. World grain crop conditions showed little overall change.

WHEAT: The main market feature was the continued delay in winter wheat harvest as cool, rainy weather delayed maturity and kept combines out of many fields ready for harvest. Tight farm holding caused a scramble for nearby supply to fill mill and export needs. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat rose 5 cents per bushel and down 1 cent from last season. St. Louis soft red winter wheat advanced 11 cents per bushel and is now 8 cents higher than last year. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat eased 5 1/4 cents lower, down 26 1/2 cents from a year ago. Pending labor problems at the Duluth port caused a nervous undertone. Portland soft white wheat moved 5 cents lower per bushel but is 16 cents above comparable date last year.

CORN: Corn markets were depressed by record stocks and an inspection for export report showing reduced movements for the week and for the year to date compared with last week and last year. Kansas City No. 2 yellow corn eased 1 cents lower, down 49 cents per bushel from last year. The Minneapolis market fell 3 cents, and is down 45 cents from last season. Kansas City white corn held unchanged in slow trade at 2.70 per bushel.

OATS AND BARLEY: New crop pressure depressed barley markets. Minneapolis heavy oats moved up 3-5 cents. Minneapolis best malting barley fell under heavy offering and declined 5-10 cents. Minneapolis feed grade barley fell 4 cents.

SORGHUM: Record sorghum stocks and slow domestic demand depressed midwest market but large sale to Mexico raised the Texas High Plains market 5 cents per hundred pounds. Kansas City market eased 2 cents, down 57 cents from last season.

OILSEEDS: Soybean markets were boosted by a decline in carryover stocks, tight farm holding, and delayed planting. Illinois processor points price rose 10-10 1/2 cents but is 45 1/2 - 50 cents per bushel below last season. Minneapolis flaxseed fell 20 cents per bushel as crushers withdrew from the market. Duluth sunflower seed dropped 40 cents per hundred pounds. Minneapolis sunflower seed oil rose 1/4-1/2 cents to 24 3/4 cents per pound due to reduced supply.

INTERIOR

Exports from points other than listed above, including shipments by rail and truck.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feedstuffs and feed grains traded mixed but averaged slightly higher.Demand was light as improved pastures over most of the country provided good grazing for livestock. Best outlets were for poultry and swine feeds. Dairy feeding was reduced by unusually lush pastures.

OILSEED MEAL: Light domestic and export demand was countered by tight farm holding of soybeans and extensive down time scheduled by midwestern processing plants. Prices closed mixed. Decatur 44 percent protein soybean meal sold $1.50 higher to $187.00 and 48 percent advanced 50 cents to $220.00 per ton. Other markets ranged $2.40 lower to $4.20 per ton higher. Cottonseed meal supplies tightened as some southern plants began to complete seasonal run. California prices were unchanged at $177.50 per ton while southern mill prices sold $7.50 per ton higher. Minneapolis linseed meal was unchanged at $160.00 per ton with production and demand light. Sunflower seed meal sold $10.00 higher to $110.00 per ton in slow trading. Sunflower oil was steady at 25 cents per pound at Minneapolis.

ANIMAL PROTEINS: Meat meal traded mostly lower in spite of tight supplies as demand was light. Fort Worth was steady at $212.50 per ton; Kansas City sold $2.50 lower to $210.00 per ton and Minneapolis was $2.50 lower to $222.50 per ton. Feather meal prices were steady to weak with demand light. Fish meal was unchanged at California ports but good fishing pressured prices $15.00 lower to $320.00 per ton at Gulf ports. East Coast production also picked up and the market fell in line with Gulf prices at $320.00 per ton.

CORN FEEDS: Yellow hominy was in tight supply as one midwestern processor was shut down by strike activity. Illinois prices were unchanged at $86.00 per ton but Kansas City sold $5.00 higher to $100.00 per ton. Firm cash corn markets contributed support to corn feeds. Corn gluten feed traded steady at $112.00 per ton Chicago and Kansas City. Corn gluten 60 percent protein meal sold $5.00 higher to $230.00 Chicago and $240.00 per ton at Kansas City. Distillers dried grains are in tight supply with little production scheduled during July. Prices were lightly tested as most production is sold ahead. Brewers' dried grain production expanded and most markets sold $3.00 per ton lower.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Wheat millfeeds were mixed but mostly lower as short flour mill grind was offset by light feed mixer demand. Buffalo middlings sold $1.00 lower to $80.00 per ton. Kansas City sold $7.00 lower to $76.00 and Minneapolis was steady at $81.00 per ton. West Coast prices were $1.00-1.50 per ton higher due to light mill run time.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Alfalfa production began to increase as clearing weather allowed most dehydrators to operate. Export demand was good enough to keep pressure off sellers as domestic usage continued light. Alfalfa center of Nebraska dehydrated alfalfa pellets held steady at $82.00 per ton. Reground alfalfa meal markets were unchanged. Sun-cured alfalfa pellets are in tight supply and Los Angeles advanced $3.50 to $135.00 per ton. Baled alfalfa hay traded slow due to light supply and poor demand.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses closed the week steady. Demand continues seasonally light with supplies adequate for trade requirements. Rains over much of the country stimulated pasture growth further reducing molasses demand. Supplementary liquid feeds that moved into the market a year ago continues to weigh on usage. Present beet molasses supplies were booked and are now making deliveries. The new crop is short with acreage cutbacks in Colorado, Nebraska and Kansas and unfavorable weather in areas of Nebraska further reducing production estimates. A good sugar beet crop is predicted for the Red River Valley.

HIGHLIGHTS: Oilseeds were sharply lower during the week ended July 1. Wheat feed grains were mostly lower. Bearish market factors were the poor world economy, high interest rates, large world stocks of grain, generally favorable new crop conditions, and the strong U.S. dollar which reduced export trade.

WHEAT: The prospective record winter wheat harvest picked up at midweek before rainfall again halted combining over large areas of the wheat belt. Farm offerings expanded and this weakened prices. Soft red winter wheat was firm due to exports to China and the lack of enough good quality new crop wheat in the southeastern states to complete the order. Minneapolis dark northern spring wheat advanced as farm offerings tightened and mills needed to replace grind. Kansas City hard red winter wheat declined 24 cents to $3.85 per bushel. Minneapolis dark northern spring wheat sold 13 cents higher to $4.21 per bushel. Portland soft white wheat was 3 cents lower to $4.13 per bushel. St. Louis soft red winter wheat advanced 13 cents to $3.44-3.46 per bushel.

CORN: Yellow corn markets were lower as new export trade was light, new crop is planted and making favorable progress, and lush pastures lessened animal feed requirements. Minneapolis No. 2 yellow corn was 5 cents lower to $2.57 per bushel. Kansas City milling quality white corn was 5 cents lower to $2.65 per bushel.

OATS AND BARLEY: Oats traded mixed as new crop pressure offset light farm offerings. Minneapolis heavy oats traded 1-2 cents higher at $1.97-2.22 per bushel. Toledo oats declined 57-65 cents at $1.65-1.68 per bushel. Minneapolis best malting barley traded steady to 25 cents lower at $2.40-2.90 per bushel. Feed grade dropped 6 cents to $2.01 per bushel.

SORGHUM: Yellow sorghum traded mostly lower due to easier corn markets. Kansas City sold 11 cents lower to $4.41 per cwt. Texas High Plains closed steady to 5 cents higher at $5.25-5.40 but the California market fell 5-6 cents per hundred pounds at $6.09-6.13 Los Angeles.

OILSEEDS: Increased soybean planting, and light export and processor demand pressured soybean markets. Illinois processor prices fell 16 1/2-18 1/2 cents to $6.17-6.24 per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed dropped 10 cents to $6.65 per bushel. Duluth sunflower seed declined 20 cents to $10.70 per hundred pounds. Minneapolis sunflower oil declined 1 3/4 cents to 23 1/4 cents per pound.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feedstuffs and feed grains sold in mixed price trends. Export demand was light due to U.S. dollar strength. Domestic demand was light as high interest rates, large on farm stocks of grain, ample pasturage, and farmers busy planting or harvesting crops curtailed feed buying. Dairy and pet foods moved at a normal pace, beef cattle and swine feeding continued to decline. Buying is generally hand-to-mouth with little stockpiling of feeds other than some feedlot sun-cured hay winter stocking occuring in the southwest.

OILSEED MEAL: In spite of lower production soybean meal traded at generally lower price levels as export and domestic feeder demand was seasonally light. Decatur 44 percent protein sold $5.50 lower to $181.50 per ton and 48 percent meal was $4.50 lower to $195.50 per ton. Scarce cottonseed meal supplies were unchanged at $177.50 at California mills for solvent process meal. Tight southwestern offerings sold $2.50 higher at $135.00 per ton. Lubbock and Memphis sold $7.50 higher to $165.00. Minneapolis linseed meal was steady at $160.00 per ton in thin trading. Minneapolis sunflower meal was steady at $110.00 per ton but sunflower oil sold 2 cents lower to 23 cents per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEINS: Meat meal demand turned light but limited offerings caused a mixed price trend. Midwest offerings were steady to $2.50 higher while the California market was $6.25 lower to $235.00 at Los Angeles. Minneapolis tankage sold $5.00 lower to $240.00. Fish meal markets were barely steady as heavy fosh catch and light demand weighed on the market.

CORN FEEDS: Light production supported yellow hominy feed markets but trade was light as prices in many areas moved out of line with competitive feedstuffs. The Illinois markets advanced $4.00 to $90.00 per ton. Kansas City was unchanged in light trading at $100.00 per ton. Corn gluten feed traded steady at $112.00 but 60 percent protein corn gluten meal advanced $5.00 to $235.00 at Chicago and up $5.00 to $245.00 per ton at Kansas City. Distillers' dried grains are in extremely tight supply with only an occasional car of resale offered at mixed prices. Brewers' dried grains were mixed with offerings and demand light.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Slowed flour mill grind tightened wheat millfeed offerings but demand weakened enough to pressure prices lower. Buffalo midds were $1.00 higher to $81.00 per ton, Kansas City was $1.00 lower at $75.00 per ton and Minneapolis sold $3.00 lower to $78.00 per ton.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Alfalfa production increased during the week but continues to lag behind last year. Export and domestic demand was seasonally light. Forward buying has been minimal so far this season. Prices were mostly unchanged but showed a weaker undertoned where clearing skies allowed harvest progress. Alfalfa center of Nebraska dehydrated alfalfa pellets steady at $82.00 per ton. Reground meal markets were steady. Sun-cured alfalfa pellet production was light but increasing and Los Angeles sold $2.50 lower at $133.00 per ton. Baled alfalfa hay trade was seasonally slow and some rained on hay was priced $5.00 per ton lower in the midwest at $35.00 per ton at farm piles. A few feedlots began buying winter stocks but most were content to buy only as needed.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasees closed steady. Demand and was light and movement was slow with molasses at seasonally low distribution point. Slow down in feedlot demand, cattle on grass and poor economic conditions weighed on molasses market. Light supplies amd logistic problems from the Hawaiin cutback continues to support California prices at this time. The movement of molasses from other sources into the california market should alleviate the current situation.

HIGHLIGHTS: Oilseed market turned strong during the week ended July 8. Winter wheat traded sharply weaker as harvest moves into northern areas. Farmers resumed tight holding of wheat and feed grains after selling to clean some bins for wheat storage. High interest rates continue a major deterrent to business. Pick up in export trade late in the week caused a flurry of buying at the close and this added spot strength to markets. Mills sold considerable amounts of flour for 60 to 90 days with some sales reported through the years end. Australian wheat is suffering from drought and Russian grain crops continue in poor condition.

WHEAT: Wheat markets were mostly weaker as the large winter wheat crop was under more favorable harvest weather. Combines moved into Nebraska during the week. Protein levels are running lower than last year and mill buying turned selective for the higher protein lots. Kansas City No. 1 hard red winter ordinary protein wheat fell 21 1/4 cents and 13 percent protein wheat dropped 4 1/4 cents per bushel. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat declined 4 1/4 cents and St. Louis soft red winter wheat fell 20 cents per bushel. Portland soft white wheat traded unchanged to 2 cents lower per bushel.

CORN: Tight farm holding raised yellow corn prices in spite of improving new crop prospects. Kansas City market rose 2 1/2 cents cents and Minneapolis market rose 1 cent per bushel. Kansas City white corn held unchanged.

OATS AND BARLEY: Oats and barley markets declined under nearby new crop harvest pressure and slow buying interest. Minneapolis heavy oats fell 7-17 cents per bushel. Minneapolis best malting barley held unchanged but feed barley declined 10 cents per bushel. Portland feed barley dropped 9-24 cents per bushel.

SORGHUM: Sorghum trade is light and uneven due to slow demand and light selling pressure as the Texas harvest picks up momentum but farmers are generally holding stocks tightly. Some Texas High Plains cotton acreage was destroyed by weather is being replanted mostly in sorghum. Kansas City sorghum bids held at $4.41 after trading as low as $4.34 per hundred pounds at midweek. The Texas market is steady to up 5 cents per hundred pounds.

OILSEEDS: Soybean planting continues to lage and farmers are holding old crop stocks tightly. Illinois processor bids moved 1/2 cents lower to up 4 cents per bushel. The Minneapolis market advanced 5 1/2 cents per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed rose 20 cents per bushel due to tight farm holding. Duluth sunflower seed moved 10 cents higher per hundred pounds. Minneapolis sunflower seed oil held steady at 23 1/4 cents per pound.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feed grains and feedstuffs moved to slightly lower price levels during the week ended July 7. Demand remained slow due to high interest rates, strong U.S. currency which limited export trade and better than average pastures. Also farmers were busy planting or harvesting crops.

OILSEED MEAL: Soybean meal moved generally lower at all markets except Minneapolis where reduced crush tightened supply. Most other points reported increased farm offering of soybeans to processors in an effort to clean out bins to store new crop wheat. Decatur market eased 50 cents lower to 181.00 for 44 percent and 195.00 for 48 percent protein meal. Cottonseed meal moved mixed with California and Memphis markets 5.00-7.50 lower while Texas mills raised prices 2.50-6.50 per ton due to deterioration of the new crop. Minneapolis linseed and sunflower seed meal held unchanged in light trade. Sunflower seed oil rose 1/4 cents 23 1/4 cents per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEINS: Meat meal markets moved mostly lower due to light demand as supply remains fairly tight. The Fort Worth market fell 5.00 to 207.50. Kansas City declined 7.50 to 205.00, and Minneapolis tankage dropped 5.00 to 235.00 per ton. Feather meal markets declined as more turkeys moved to processing plants. Good fish catch in Gulf and Atlantic waters depressed fish meal market fell 5.00 to 315.00 per ton at Gulf or East Coast ports. California markets held unchanged due to close supply-demand relationship.

CORN FEEDS: Corn feeds traded steady to weaker with production light due to declining sweetner market but with demand also light. Corn gluten feed and meal held unchanged at all reporting markets with supply and demand light small yellow hominy feed offerings moved at lower prices with Illinois Points price 5.00 lower to 85.00 and the Kansas City market fell 2.00 to 98.00 per ton. Distillers dried grains are nearly non-existant and held mostly steady prices. Brewers dried grain supply tightened and St. Louis, Milwaukee markets rose 2.00 per ton.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Flour mill grind was reduced due to poor export flour business and the Monday holiday but slow mixed businsess pressured millfeeds markets lower. Buffalo middlings fell 3.00, Kansas City market declined 2.00 and the Minneapolis market dropped 9.00 per ton.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Scattered showers limited alfalfa operations during the week. Dehydrators were accumulating stocks and demand for domestic and export movement was light. Alfalfa center, Nebraska dehydrated alfalfa pellets held at 82.00 per ton. Los Angeles sun cured alfalfa meal fell 5.00 to 128.00 per ton. Baled hay trade slow at steady prices.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses markets; mostly steady. Feeding cane molasses markets closed mostly steady. No price changes recorded with the exception of California which was 5.00 per ton lower to unchanged. Eastern market movement slow with some drop in dairy feeding requirements due to excellent pasture conditions and dairy farmers cutting back on production costs. Seasonal to below seasonal activity in the central midwestern markets. European market soft, registering declines of 20.00 per ton the last couple of months. Selling price at Rotterdam now around 65.00 per metric ton.

HIGHLIGHTS: Most wheat and feed grain markets showed a firm trend during the week ended July 15. Strength was broader-based than in recent weeks as rains delayed hard red winter wheat harvest and caused some crop damage and Russian and Australian crop conditions worsened. A weaker U.S. dollar picked up export demand. Tight holding at the farm level and the announced 20 percent acreage reduction in the U.S. 1983 wheat programs contributed support.

WHEAT: Hard red winter wheat advanced on broad support as farmers held stocks, weather continued to hamper harvest and caused crop damage, and reduced crop prospects for Australia and Russia was announced during the week. Kansas City hard red winter wheat advanced 15 cents to $3.79 per bushel. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat sold 1 cent lower at $4.16 per bushel due to pressure from nearby harvest. Portland soft white wheat traded steady to 2 cents higher at $4.13 per bushel. St. Louis soft red winter wheat rose 4-5 cents at $3.28-3.31 per bushel.

CORN: Yellow corn traded mixed as the new crop made good progress. The weather warmed to more seasonal levels and farmers held old crop stocks tightly. Kansas City prices sold 2 cents lower at $2.71 per bushel. Minneapolis sold 3 cents higher to $2.61 per bushel . Kansas City milling quality white corn advanced 5 cents to $2.70 per bushel in thin trading.

OATS AND BARLEY: Oats and barley markets showed weakness due to new crop harvest pressure. Minneapolis heavy oats was 3-13 cents lower at $1.87-1.92 per bushel. Minneapolis malting barley was steady at $2.40-2.90 per bushel. Feed barley traded mostly 2-5 cents lower.

SORGHUM: Sorghum markets were slow under slight harvest pressure in the southwest but tight holding at the level in the midwest. Kansas City sorghum sold 5 cents higher at $4.46 per cwt while the Texas High Plains sold 5-10 cents lower at $5.20-5.35 per hundred pounds.

OILSEEDS: Soybean markets strengthened in spite of improved crop prospects as temparatures warmed to more seasonal levels. Tight farmer holding and improved export demand for beans and products combined to strengthen market. Illinois prices advanced 9-11 cents to $6.28-6.37 per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed sold 15 cents higher to $7.00 per busehl as processors raised bids to pull remaining supplies out of farm stocks. Duluth sunflower seed traded 10 cents higher to $10.90 per hundred pounds. Minnepolis sunflower oil traded 1/2 cents higher at 23 3/4 cents per pound.

HIGHLIGHTS: Demand for feedstuffs and feed grains continued dull across the nation during the week ended July 13. Prices moved in a mixed trend with most of the strength coming from tight farmer holding of feed grains and wheat with a late period up-move following the report that Russia's grain crop prospects had been further reduced.

OILSEED MEAL: Soybean meal turned stronger as farmer held soybeans stocks tightly, forcing processors to raise bids to entice beans from storage. Some plants choose to curtail operations and this tightened supply. Decatur soybean meal advanced 5.50 per ton. Solvent process cottonseed meal traded mixed with the California market unchanged; Fort Worth market down 4.00; and the Memphis market up 2.50 per ton. Minneapolis linseed meal unchanged per ton in thin trade. Sunflower seed meal also unchanged per ton in light trade. Sunflower seed oil rose 1/2 cent per pound at Minneapolis.

ANIMAL PROTEINS: Meat meal moved mixed as poultry users in southern areas switched to fish meal and northern areas and California had fairly steady movement. Kansas City meat meal held barely steady, Fort Worth market rose 5.00, and Minneapolis tankage traded steady. Gulf and East Coast fishmeal declined 5.00 per ton as fishing continued heavy. Poultry feeders drew increasing amounts of fish meal as the market moved lower.

CORN FEEDS: Yellow hominy feed remains in tight supply but at Illnois processor points the market eased lower as downward pressure resulted from a lower cash corn market. Illinois points market dropped 2.00 per ton. Scarce offerings at Kansas City traded up 2.00 per ton. Corn gluten feed moved mostly to export at a steady to 3.00 per ton higher price. Corn gluten meal moved mixed with the Kansas City market 2.00 higher and the Chicago market unchanged per ton. Distillers dried grains were nearly nonexistent due to seasonal cut back in distillery operations. Brewers dried grains supply tightened as traditional distillers dried grain users switched to brewers dried grains for use in formula feeds. Boston brewers moved up 5.00 per ton but the St. Louis market eased 2.00 lower per ton.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Flour mill grind picked up about one day run time after fairly good flour sales of 30-60 days and some sales through year end. Good pastures limited range cube business and the wheat middlings market showed weak spots. Buffalo midds traded steady. Kansas City market eased 2.00 lower, and the Los Angeles millrun market declined 2.00 per ton.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Slowly increasing alfalfa production began to pressure the market a little. Alfalfa Center dehydrated alfalfa pellets eased 1.00 lower per ton. Most reground meal markets were reported unchanged except at Kansas City which showed a 1.00 drop following the Nebraska market. Los Angeles sun-cured alfalfa pellets rose 1.00 following last week's 5.00 per ton drop. Baled alfalfa hay trade thin at steady to firm prices. Platte Valley of Nebraska baled alfalfa steady to up 5.00 per ton.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses closed the week with minimal change. The only change being the California market unchanged to 8.00 lower. Supplies in that area sufficient to meet trade needs. Some increased usage in feedyard business in the Houston area as molasses price now more competitive with corn and alternative liquids. Beet molasses in the Red River Valley adequate to ample for trade demand; no avaliable supplies in Colorado, Montana, Wyoming areas.

HIGHLIGHTS: Wheat and feed grain markets moved in mixed price trends during the week ended July 22. Trade thin with little nearby business due to poor gold and financial markets performance, firmer U.S. dollar in Europe, high interest rates, and tight farm holding. Long-range prospects appeared brighter as the Russian grain crop is expected to show poor yields for the fourth year in a row; China is expected to need more grain, and Australia's crop is expected to be short.

WHEAT: Wheat markets moved mixed as tight farm holding was offset by good harvest progress with combines moving into the northern tier of states. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat closed up 1/2 cent per bushel. St. Louis soft red winter wheat declined 3-5 cents per bushel. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat rose 4 1/4 cents per bushel. Portland soft white wheat advanced 3 cents per bushel.

CORN: Yellow corn markets declined as new crop prospects brightened under favorable moisture and temperature conditions. Kansas City yellow corn fell 9 cents and Minneapolis eased 4 3/4 cents lower per bushel. Kansas City milling quality white corn held unchanged. Users have adequate stocks of old crop on hand and expect plentiful new crop supplies.

OATS AND BARLEY: Starting harvest of barley and nearby oats weighed against values. Minneapolis heavy oats dropped 15-19 cents per bushel. Minneapolis best malting barley traded unchanged all week. Feed grade barley fell 5-12 cents per bushel at various reporting markets as new crop harvest got underway.

SORGHUM: Sorghum trade thin with light offerings. Demand mostly from western feedlots and the export trade to Mexico. Kansas City sorghum eased 2 cents lower and Texas High Plains market dipped 10 cents lower per hundred pounds.

OILSEEDS: Lower gold and financial markets and good new crop progress combined to weaken oilseed markets. Illinois crusher point soybean price fell 10 1/2 - 14 1/2 cents per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed held steady. Duluth sunflower seed traded unchanged. Minneapolis sunflower seed oil rose 1/2 cent per pound.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feed grains moved lower under pressure on new crop prospects and large stocks of old crop grains. Feedstuffs traded mostly lower during the week end July 20. High interest rates kept buying on a hand to mouth basis and export trade slowed as the world-wide recession continued to depress trade. Warm temperatures limited animal feed requirements.

OILSEED MEAL: Soybean meal declined as light export trading and slow mixed feed buying backed up supplies at processing plants. Decatur sold $4.50 lower to $182.00 44 percent and $196.00 per ton for 48 percent protein meal. Cottonseed meal traded in a mixed trend as tightening supply met a light demand. California mills advanced $10.00 per ton while at Memphis prices sold $5.00 lower per ton. Minneapolis linseed meal held steady at $160.00 per ton in thin trading. Sunflower seed meal traded at a steady $110.00 per ton and sunflower seed oil remained steady at 23 3/4 cents per pound at Minneapolis.

ANIMAL PROTEINS: Meat meal supplies remain tight but demand is only fair as users move to soybean and fish meal where price advantage switches. Fort Worth meat meal declined $5.00 to $207.50 per ton. Kansas City held at $205.00; and Minneapolis tankage was unchanged at $235.00 per ton. Feather meal declined $5.00 at northern markets ans was unchanged in the midsetion of the country where surplus offerings were cleaned up. Fish meal traded $10.00 lower at East and Gulf Ports until some processors withdrew from offering due to the market decline. West Coast prices were firm due to light supply.

CORN FEEDS: Lower cash corn markets pressured corn feeds in a few areas but light supplies kept most offerings steady to firm. Illinois yellow hominy feed sold $1.00 lower to $82.00 while Kansas City was firm at $100.00 per ton due to light offerings. Corn gluten feed was unchanged at $115.00 Chicago and $3.00 higher at Kansas City. Corn gluten 60 percent protein meal sold $5.00 higher to $240.00 per ton Chicago. Distillers dried grains remain in very light supply with most plants down for July and August and most users swithced to brewers dried grains. St. Louis brewers dried grains sold $4.00 higher to $94.00 per ton and Boston sold $1.00 higher to $131.00 per ton. Distillers dried grains was extremely scarce and resale cars traded $4.00 lower at $180.00 per ton Buffalo while Chicago advanced $9.40 to $159.40 per ton.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Fairly good flour mill run time and light feed mixer demand kept selling pressure on wheat millfeeds in spite of the low prices compared with other mid-protein feeds. Buffalo midds were higher as flour mills traded into the first week of August as demand picked up. St. Louis declined $3.00 to $80.00 per ton; Kansas City sold $1.00 lower to $70.00; and Minneapolis held at $69.00 per ton as flour mill grind eased. Los Angeles millrun sold $2.00 lower to $117.00 per ton.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: In spite of light production, the lack of enough feed mixer and export demand caused moderate selling pressure and some alfalfa markets edged lower. Dehydrated alfalfa pellets at alfalfa center of Nebraska sold $1.00 lower to $80.00 per ton. Minneapolis reground meal traded $2.00 lower at $103.00. Sun-cured alfalfa pellets were in tight supply at unchanged price levels. Baled alfalfa hay scarce and generally held steady prices.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses sold steady. Demand remains light as summer feeding requirements and good pasture conditions curtailed movement. California markets stabilized as supply and demand was more in balance. Beet molasses supplies in the Red River Valley were adequate to meet trade requirements; no supplies of beet molasses in the Colorado, Montana, Wyoming areas.

WEEKLY SUMMARY	11
FEEDSTUFFS: WHOLESALE	12-13
OILSEED: CRUSHED, MEAL AND OIL PRODUCTION, AND ENDING STOCKS, JUNE 1982	14
TELEPHONE REPORTING SERVICE	15

HIGHLIGHTS: Favorable corn and soybean crop progress coupled with light export and domestic trade depressed wheat and feed grain pricess. The strong U.S. dollar and lower precious metals and financial markets slowed trading. Interest rates eased but remained above the level it would take to stimulate stockpiling supplies. U.S.D.A. announced farmers could rotate old crop corn and sorghum out of storage and have up to 60 days to replace the grain with new crop supplies. This tended to cause expanded farm offerings.

WHEAT: Bountiful supplies of wheat depressed buyer demand. The main market support was the unusually strong holding tendency at the farm level. Mills bid up only on needed milling qualities, particularly 12.5 percent protein levels. Kansas City hard red winter wheat declined 9 cents to $3.70 per bushel. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat sold 13 cents lower to $4.08 per bushel. St. Louis soft red winter wheat dropped 9-11 cents at $3.14-3.18 per bushel. Portland soft white wheat sold 3 cents lower at $4.13 per bushel.

CORN: Yellow corn declined under new crop pressure and old crop storage rotation which is expected to place large quantities of old crop corn and sorghum on the market. Minneapolis No.2 yellow corn fell 22 cents to $2.34 per bushel. Kansas City yellow corn fell 14 cents to $2.48 per bushel. Kansas City milling quality white corn sold 5 cents lower to $2.65 per bushel.

OATS AND BARLEY: Oats and barley sold mostly lower in slow trading as users waited for more new crop offerings. Minneapolis heavy oats traded mixed, 7 cents lower to 1 cent higher at $1.61-1.78 per bushel. Minneapolis best malting barley sold 5-20 cents lower at $2.20-2.85 per bushel. Portland barley was steady to 4 cents lower at $2.54-2.57 per bushel.

SORGHUM: The domestic sorghum trade was extremely slow as pastures remain better than normal and storage rotation is expected to put more feed grain on the market. Export demand was good after the recent sale to Mexico and Gulf bids were strong for nearby shipment. Kansas City sorghum declined 22 cents to $4.22 per hundred pounds. Texas High Plains sold 10 cents lower to $5.00-5.15 per hundred weight.

OILSEEDS: Light export demand, narrow crush margins and good pastures limited soybean buying interest. Minneapolis fell 19 cents to $5.95 per bushel. Illinois crusher prices fell 19-20 cents at $5.98-6.04 per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed dropped 10 cents to $6.90 per bushel. Duluth sunflower seed was down 10 cents to $10.80 per hundred pounds. Minnapolis sunflower seed oil was unchanged at 23 3/4 cents per pound.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feed grains and feedstuffs moved mostly lower during the week ended July 27. Bountiful old crop supply of feed grains coupled with good prospects for the new feed grain crop combined with slowed export demand worked against feed values. Buying continued hand-to-mouth due to high interest rates. Hot temperatures limited animal feed intake and some feeders moved animals to market to avoid death losses and poor weight gains in the hot weather.

OILSEED MEAL: Soybean meal moved mostly lower in spite of reduced crush as U.S. dollar strength, lower precious metals and lower financial markets restricted export demand and domestic feed business remains very slow. Decatur soybean meal fell $4.00 per ton for 44 percent and 48 percent protein meal. Cottonseed meal showed a mostly steady trend as supplies are not burdensome but demand is only fair. The only price change reported was at Memphis, up $7.50 per ton due to tight supply. Minneapolis linseed meal and sunflower seed meal traded unchanged. Sunflower seed oil declined 3/4 cent per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEINS: Reduced supply of meat meal traded steady at only a few spots and moved lower as demand fell off in nearly all areas. Fish meal displaced meat meal in most poultry feeding areas as the large catch prompted some price cutting to relieve storage pressure in Gulf and East Coast port markets. Los Angeles meat meal $15.00, Minneapolis market dropped $5.00, and the Kansas City market eased $2.50 lower per ton. Feather meal markets firmed after a good clean up of offerings which occured after recent sharp price reductions. Fish meal is quoted steady with some processors raising bids $10.00-15.00 per ton but with some discounting of quotes at about the same amounts.

CORN FEEDS: Light production tightened supply of gluten feed and meal which held generally steady as demand also slowed. Illinois points yellow hominy feed fell $5.00 and the Kansas City market dropped $8.00 per ton. Distillers' dried grains extremely tight due to seasonal shut down of the major distilling plants and prices were mostly unchanged. Brewers' dried grains have kept moving due to user switch from distillers' dried grains and the market is steady to stronger. Milwaukee reported unchanged, Boston up $7.00, and St. Louis up $1.00 per ton.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Fairly heavy flour mill grind coupled with slow feed mixer demand kept pressure on wheat millfeed markets all week. The Buffalo market eased $1.00 lower, Kansas City $4.00 lower, and Minneapolis middlings down $5.00 per ton. Los Angeles millrun fell $1.00 per ton.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Alfalfa markets showed practically no price changes in slow trade. Producers were accumulating stocks and buyers were taking only immediate requirements. The only price change was at Minneapolis where reground dehydrated alfalfa meal eased $1.00 lower per ton.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses registered $2.00 lower to unchanged in most areas. South Florida and California ports were the only areas unchanged from previous week. Reasons given for the price drop include: the counteract price cutting primarily in the Gulf area, equalize prices with European markets, ample supplies, to become more competitive with corn and to stimulate demand. Sources indicate shortage of high sugar content molasses whereas supplies of low sugar molasses more than ample.

HIGHLIGHTS: Prospects of a large grain crop coupled with ample supplies of old crop stocks, weighed heavily on the markets. World news added little support as poor economic performance continues to hamper trade. Farmers generally held tightly to grain stocks but were forced to move some corn and soybeans to make room for the new crop. Russia remains a potential buyer for large quantities of wheat and feed grains as they expect a poor grain crop for the fourth year in a row. Australia reported that drought continues to limit production prospects.

WHEAT: Wheat markets were generally lower as domestic and export trade continued dull and mills searched for the higher protein milling quality wheat due to the low protein value of the new crop. Kansas City hard red winter wheat sold 2 cents lower to $3.68 per bushel. Minneapolis dark northern spring wheat fell 5 cents to $4.03 per bushel. Portland soft white wheat declined 3 cents to $4.10 per bushel.

CORN: Yellow corn closed in a mixed trend with some selling pressure to make room for new crop storage in heavy production areas. Fairly tight holding in other areas prompted higher bids in order to secure enough grain to fill nearby requirements for feeding and for export. Kansas City No. 2 yellow corn finished 1 cent higher to $2.49 per bushel. Minneapolis sold 6 cents higher to $2.40 per bushel. Kansas City milling quality white corn fell 5 cents to $2.60 per bushel.

OATS AND BARLEY: Oats and barley markets were generally lower for new crop as harvest pressure increased. Minneapolis best malting barley closed mixed, up 20 cents to down 15 cents at $2.40-2.70 per bushel. Feed grade barley traded 2-10 cents per bushel lower with the greatest decline at Stockton where the market fell 10 cents to $2.83-2.86 per bushel.

SORGHUM: Sorghum demand was light after the Mexican tender was filled and prices eased at most markets. Kansas City sold 1 cent lower to $4.21 per hundred pounds. Texas High Plains 5-15 cents lower to $4.85-5.10.

OILSEEDS: Poor domestic feed demand and light export activity for meal, oil, and soybeans weighed against soybean markets as the new crop made favorable progress. Minneapolis soybeans declined 4 cents to $5.91 per bushel. Illinois processor prices fell 6-9 cents at $5.92-5.95 per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed dropped 80 cents to $6.10 per bushel under nearby new crop pressure. Duluth sunflower seed rose 5 cents to $10.85 per hundred pounds as crushers needed supplies.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feed grains traded mostly lower during the week ended August 3. Feedstuffs were in a mixed trend with tight supplies and lower interest rates furnishing most of the strength. Pastures began to show heat stress in spots but generally were in good condition in most areas. Poor poultry margins and lower livestock numbers depressed buyer demand.

OILSEED MEAL: Poor crush margins and tight holding of soybeans at the farm level caused a cut back in soybean crushing. The smaller soybean supply was adequate to fill light feed and export demand. Soybean meal sold $1.50-8.70 per ton lower with the average down $3.00 per ton. Decatur 44 percent protein meal sold $1.50 lower to $176.50 and 48 percent was $2.50 lower to $189.50 per ton. Cottonseed meal was unchanged at California mills but tightening supplies at southern mills forced prices $2.50-5.00 per ton higher. Minneapolis linseed meal fell $9.00 to $151.00 per ton as August crush was expected to expand sharply. Sunflower meal traded steady at $110.00 per ton in thin trading. Sunflower seed oil sold 1/4 1/4 cents higher to 23 1/4 cents per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEINS: Light meat meal supplies were countered by light demand and forced meat meal prices lower. Buffalo prices were $5.00 lower at $215.00 per ton and Minneapolis tankage sold $5.00 lower at $225.00 per ton. Feather meal traded steady in northern areas but was sharply lower at southern points as demand was light. Fish meal was unchanged on the West Coast but poor fishing prompted market advances of $12.50 at $312.50 per ton at Gulf and East Coast markets.

CORN FEEDS: Lower cash corn prices had little effect on mid protein feeds as poor run time tightened supplies. Yellow hominy feed sold $2.00 lower at $90.00 Kansas City and $5.00 lower to $72.00 per ton at Illinois production points. Gluten feed and meal markets were mostly unchanged in thin trading. Brewers' dried grains demand remained good due to recent formulation changes from distillers' dried grains and St. Louis sold $9.00 higher to $104.00, Milwaukee unchanged at $88.00, and Boston $6.00 higher to $144.00 per ton. Distillers' dried grains became more plentiful after a recent cut back in usage and an unexpected start up of a distillery which was expected to be down all summer and distillers' dried grains were mixed.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Heavy flour milling and light mixed feed demand pressured most wheat middlings markets lower. Buffalo held steady at $83.00, Kansas City was $2.00 lower to $64.00 per ton. Portland millrun declined $3.00 to $114.00 but Los Angeles millrun was $2.50 higher per ton.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Alfalfa markets showed little activity all week as production continued to lag behind last season and most processors were accumulating stocks. Dehydrated alfalfa pellets traded steady at $80.00 per ton at Alfalfa Center of Nebraska. Reground alfalfa meal markets reported no price change. Sun-cured alfalfa pellets trade was light at unchanged prices. Feedlot quality baled hay steady but dairy quality is in tight supply and sold $5.00 higher at $40.00-50.00 per ton in farm bale piles of the Platte Valley of Nebraska.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses was steady to $2.00 lower. Pastures still remain in excellent conditions, however, rain is needed in some areas. Industrial use was very good but feed use was very slow. Indications are that molasses distribution for July may be 10 percent over last year. Heavy discounting was reported on the West Coast with supplies in California plentiful and competition keen. Beet molasses supplies in the Red River Valley were adequate for trade requirements. Beet molasses supplies were very tight in California and Arizona and demand was good.

HIGHLIGHTS: Wheat and feed grain markets moved generally lower across the nation during the week ended August 12. The only market support came from larger wheat and soybean export figures, tight holding at the farm level, and a slight reduction in hard red winter wheat crop production estimate. Weighing heavily on markets were the record production forecast for corn at 8.3 billion bushels and soybeans at 2.3 billion bushels, poor financial and gold market action, strong U.S. dollar, and poor world economy which is aggravated by high interest rates.

WHEAT: Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat fell 4 1/4 cents, down 53 1/2 cents per bushel from last season. St. Louis soft red winter wheat was 1-11 cents lower per bushel, down 44 cents from the year ago market. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14% protein wheat was 16 1/2 cents lower, down 37 1/4 cents from last season. Portland soft white wheat was 10 cents lower, down 23 cents per bushel from the comparable market last year.

CORN: Yellow corn markets were lower under weight of large stocks and the record new crop production forecast. Lower export feed grain total added weight to the market. Minneapolis No. 2 yellow corn fell 24 1/4 cents and declined 73 1/2 - 75 1/2 cents per bushel from last season. The Kansas City market dropped 20 1/4 cents, down 60 1/2 cents from last year. Kansas City milling quality white corn 25 cents lower, and is down 1.00 per bushel from last season.

OATS AND BARLEY: Oats and barley markets traded lower as harvest pressure picked up. Minneapolis best malting barley closed steady to 20 cents lower, down 65-85 cents per bushel from the comparable market last year. Feed grade barley fell in a 8-10 cent per bushel range and is down 52-59 cents per bushel from a year ago.

SORGHUM: Yellow sorghum trade slow and prices tended to follow the cash corn market lower. Kansas City No. 2 yellow sorghum dropped 35 cents, down 69 cents per hundred pounds from last year.

OILSEEDS: Soybean markets were lower under the combined weight of slow demand for the meal, oil and beans and the record crop forecast. Illinois Processor Point No. 2 yellow soybean prices declined 40-44 cents, down 1.38 1/2 - 1.39 1/2 per bushel from last season. Minneapolis flaxseed down 10 cents, 1.70 per bushel under last year. Duluth sunflower seed fell 25 cents, down 2.00 per hundred pounds from last year. Minneapolis sunflower oil held steady.

HIGHLIGHTS: Lower cash feed grain markets coupled with good new crop corn, sorghum and soybean crop prospects, pressured most feedstuffs lower. Poor poultry and egg markets and warm temperatures combined to reduce poultry feeding. Range cattle feed requirements were mostly supplied by unusally good pastures. Dairy feeds moved well but reduced hog numbers cut further into formula feed business.

OILSEED MEAL: In spite of reduced processor run time, soybean meal markets moved lower as domestic and export demand remained light. Decatur market declined $5.25 for 44 percent at $171.25 per ton and down $5.75 to $183.75 per ton for 48 percent protein meal. Cottonseed meal was mostly unchanged due to tight supplies offsetting light demand. Minneapolis linseed meal sold $1.00 lower to $150.00 per ton. Sunflower meal was $8.00 lower to $102.00 per ton. Sunflower seed oil sold 1/4 cent lower to 23 cents per pound at Minneapolis.

ANIMAL PROTEINS: Animal protein markets continued under pressure due to light demand but tight supplies and traders feeling that prices had bottomed, provided support. Buffalo meat meal sold $2.50 lower at $212.50, Kansas City $5.00 lower to $192.50, and Minneapolis tankage held steady at $225.00 per ton. West Coast fish meal markets were unchanged at $390.00 while the Gulf and East Coast markets sold $7.50 higher to $320.00 per ton as fishing declined seasonally.

CORN FEEDS: Sharply lower cash corn markets began to pressure corn feed markets but light supplies offered some market support. Illinois yellow hominy feed was $1.00 lower to $71.00 per ton. Chicago gluten feed was $3.00 lower to $112.00 per ton and Chicago 60 percent protein corn gluten meal dropped $5.00 to $235.00 per ton. Distillers dried grains showed weakness early in the period and Buffalo sold lower to $168.00 per ton but a plant break down at midweek prevented further price breaks. Brewers' dried grains were $2.00 lower at $142.00 Boston while tightening supplies kept other markets steady.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Steady flour mill grind and poor formula feed demand pressured most millfeed markets. The St. Louis - Kansas City market was the exception as these markets sold $1.00-2.00 higher respectively to $66.00 and $75.00 per ton. Other markets declined $2.00-9.00 per ton.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Alfalfa production began to weaken with larger production than last season coupled with favorable crop prospects pressuring some markets lower. Alfalfa Center of Nebraska sold $1.00 lower on dehydrated alfalfa pellets at $79.00 per ton. Reground meal markets were steady to $2.00 per ton lower. Sun-cured alfalfa pellet production and trade continues light at steady prices. Baled alfalfa hay markets also steady in slow trading.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses markets were mostly steady. The only changes were lowering the price $5.00 to $59.00 per ton on the West Coast and a $2.00 drop in price in South Florida. Demand light to moderate for this time of year with usage a little improved over last year. For the month of April Guatemala was the leading supplier of molasses into the U.S. with 27,900 Metric tons followed by Thailand with 20,560 metric tons. Hawiian molasses production for the month of June totaled 7,441,779 gallons.

WEEKLY SUMMARY.....17
FEEDSTUFFS: WHOLESALE PRICES.....18-19

HIGHLIGHTS: Wheat and feed grain markets moved mostly higher during the week ended August 19. Market support came from stronger financial markets, lower interest rates, strong precious metals, and a weaker U.S. dollar which improved export demand. Tight farmer holding of grain added support. World wheat production reduction of 1 percent from last year is offset by a world coarse increase of 1 percent and a world increase of 7 percent oilseed production.

WHEAT: Farmers held tightly to wheat stocks forcing flour millers and exporters to raise bids in an effort to pull stocks out of the country. Kansas City No. 1 ordinary protein hard red winter wheat rose 13 cents per bushel. Minneapolis 14 percent protein dark northern spring wheat advanced 11 1/4 cents per bushel. Portland No. 1 soft white wheat rose 22 cents per bushel. Minneapolis No. 2 rye traded unchanged.

CORN: Yellow corn markets showed strength as tight farmer holding offset prospects for a record crop. Kansas City No. 2 yellow corn finished up 1/4 cent, St. Louis market went up 5-6 cents and Minneapolis advanced 7 1/2 cents per bushel. Kansas City milling quality white corn rose 5 cents per bushel.

OATS AND BARLEY: Minneapolis heavy oats fell 3-9 cents per bushel. Minneapolis best malting barley traded unchanged to 10 cents higher as demand picked up. Feed grade barley markets declined moderately under new crop harvest pressure.

SORGHUM: Sorghum trade is slow and prices eased lower with the Kansas City market down 2 cents per hundred pounds. Los Angeles sorghum fell 8 cents per hundred pounds.
pound.

OILSEEDS: Soybean markets moved higher in spite of record crop prospect and narrow crush margins as tight farmer holding and a pick up in export demand caused exporters to raise bids to attract selling. Minneapolis No. 1 yellow soybeans rose 9 1/2 cents per bushel. Illinois processor bids ranged 4 1/2-6 cents higher per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed fell 10 cents per bushel. Harvest pressure caused the weakness. Duluth sunflower seed closed steady after trading 10 cents lower most of the period. Minneapolis sunflower seed oil is steady at 23 cents per HIGHLIGHTS: Feedstuffs moved generally lower, tending to follow cash grain markets. Good pastures furnished much of animal feed requirements. High interest rates and poor world economy discouraged stockpiling feedstuffs. Feed mixers reported a little expansion in total feed usage as dairy and swine feeds moved steadily, poultry feeds eased a little, and feedlot feed usage expanded. Export trade is disappointing due to the strong U.S. dollar which makes U.S. products more expensive to foreign users.

OILSEED MEAL: Sharply lower cash soybean prices coupled with slow domestic and export demand, forced soybean meal markets lower. Decatur market fell $7.75 per ton for 44 percent and 48 percent protein meal. California mills solvent cottonseed meal traded unchanged. Southern mills market turned easier with the Memphis market $7.50 lower per ton. Minneapolis linseed meal fell $5.00 and sunflower seed meal declined $2.00 per ton. Sunflower oil rose 1 cent to 24 cents per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEINS: Animal proteins moved mostly lower and tended to follow vegetable proteins downward. Supplies are not burdensome but competition is brisk for the fair demand. Fish meal markets fell $5.00 at Gulf and East Coast port markets and the California market fell sharply as anchovy meal was not obtained and users switched to lower cost tuna meal. Meat meal traded unchanged at Fort Worth and Los Angeles markets but fell $2.50-7.50 per ton at all other reporting points. Feather meal was steady in Northern States but continued weak in Southern areas.

CORN FEEDS: Sharply lower cash corn markets pressured corn feeds lower. Illinois points yellow hominy feed dropped $3.50 and the Kansas City market fell $7.00 per ton. Chicago corn gluten feed fell $7.00 and corn 60 percent gluten meal declined $7.50 per ton. Scarce distillers' dried grains held unchanged at most markets but Buffalo resellers offered material $6.00 lower per ton. Brewers' dried grains showed an easier trend in spite of tight supply as competing mid protein feeds were moving at lower prices. St. Louis market went down $5.00 per ton.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Wheat millfeeds moved mostly lower due to fairly heavy flour grind and poor range cattle feed business, but spot plant shut down in the mid-southwest area caused spot market strength. Buffalo milddlings eased $1.00 lower, Fort Worth market rose $7.00, and Portland millrun declined $2.00 per ton. Kansas City midds advanced $2.50 per ton but the undertone was weak as flour mills planned to resume full mill schedules next week.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Alfalfa markets showed little market activity as producers were filling storage tanks for the winter business and feed mixer demand remained slow. Alfalfa Center of Nebraska dehydrated alfalfa pellets held steady and most reground meal markets were unchanged. Baled alfalfa trade slow at steady prices. Sun-cured alfalfa pellet trade thin and prices were steady.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses at New Orleans was $1.00 lower and a $2.00 drop to unchanged in prices at Cincinnati, Chicago, Omaha and Minneapolis. Demand remains slow and non-aggressive as U.S.D.A. forecast of large corn production estimate pressured markets. With some exceptions, most areas of the U.S. pastures have had an abundant amount of rainfall further reducing livestock feeding operations. Market undertone weak.

HIGHLIGHTS: Wheat and feed grain markets were sharply higher during the week. Market strength originated from reduced interest rates, strong financial markets, tight holding of grain at the farm level, and a pick up in export business when precious metals strengthened against a weaker U.S. dollar.

WHEAT: Hard red winter markets were supported by a 2.2 million ton purchase by India and the one year extension of the Russian wheat and feed grain agreement. A modest increase in export flour business contributed support. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat sold 5 cents higher to $3.81 per bushel. Minneapolis No. 1 dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat advanced 5 cents to $4.20 per bushel. Portland soft white wheat sold 7 cents higher to $4.29 per bushel. St. Louis soft red winter wheat was up 3-4 cents at $3.20-3.21 per bushel.

CORN: Yellow corn markets responded to tight farm holding and expanded export interest to move sharply upward. Kansas City No. 2 yellow corn sold 14 cents higher to $2.43 per bushel. Minneapolis was up 8 cents to $2.31 per bushel. Kansas City milling quality white corn sold 2 cents higher to $2.42 per bushel.

OATS AND BARLEY: The oats market showed strength as buying interest improved. Barley continued under harvest pressure and closed mixed. Minneapolis heavy oats advanced 14-16 cents at $1.57-1.64 per bushel. Minneapolis best malting barley was unchanged to 10 cents lower at $2.20-2.70 per bushel as brewers interest declined as winter brewing schedules were phased in. Portland feed barley declined 10-12 cents at $2.28-2.35 per bushel due to harvest pressure.

SORGHUM: Sorghum markets showed strength as light farm selling and increased export demand added support. Kansas City No. 2 yellow sorghum sold 20 cents higher to $4.04 per hundred pounds. Los Angeles was up 3-4 cents at $5.67 per hundred pounds.

OILSEEDS: Soybeans moved sharply higher due to tight farm holding, increased export and crusher competition for light supplies, and an improved oil and meal export trade during the week. Illinois processor bids ranged 16-22 cents higher at $5.75-5.77 per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed fell 15 cents to $5.75 per bushel under harvest pressure as crusher and export demand remained weak. Duluth sunflower seed advanced 40 cents to $11.00 per hundred pounds. Minneapolis sunflower seed oil traded 1 1/4 cents higher to 24 1/4 cents per pound.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feed grains and feedstuffs sold in mixed price trends. Domestic feeding demand showed little improvement and supplies of various feedstuffs are light. Sharp advances in financial markets and precious metals at the close picked up export interest. Tight holding of corn and soybeans at the farm level forced bids higher and lack of adequate offerings of soybeans to processing plants tightened soybean meal supplies.

OILSEED MEAL: Light soybean offerings tightened soybean meal supply as plants took down time. Decatur 44 percent soybean meal sold $5.50 higher to $169.00 per ton and 48 percent advanced $5.00 to $181.00 per ton. Solvent process cottonseed meal traded mixed as tight supplies at California mills sold $10.00 higher to $192.50 per ton but southwestern offerings sold $2.50 lower as new crop pressured the market. Minneapolis solvent linseed meal steady at $145.00 per ton in slow trade. Minneapolis sunflower seed meal $2.00 lower to $98.00 per ton and sun oil declined 1/2 cent to 23 1/2 cents per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEINS: A little improvement in meat meal demand coupled with tight supply supported meat meal markets which sold mostly higher. Buffalo advanced $2.50 to $212.50 per ton; Fort Worth $2.00 higher to $200.00 per ton and Minneapolis tankage up $10.00 to $225.00 per ton. Gulf and East Coast fish meal was unchanged at $315.00 per ton with nearby demand filled and forward contracting slow. Fish catch remains fairly good. Los Angeles tuna meal fell $7.50 per ton. Feather meal demand light and generally $5.00 per ton lower as poultry placements declined.

CORN FEEDS: Sharply advancing cash corn markets gave some support to corn feeds but generally light demand held advances in check and caused selling pressure. Chicago corn gluten feed offerings scarce and averaged $5.00 higher at $110.00 per ton. Chicago 60 percent protein corn gluten meal sold $7.50 lower to $220.00 per ton as poultry feeding demand fell off. Illinois yellow hominy feed scarce and $2.50 higher to $70.00 per ton but Kansas City $1.00 lower to $82.00 per ton. Distillers' dried grains sold at mostly lower prices from resellers but little product is offered from producers. Brewers' dried grains were mixed as brewers' started moving toward a seasonally shorter run, but, demand is light. Boston declined $5.00 to $134.00 and Milwaukee sold $1.50 higher to $88.00 per ton.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Flour mill grind remained about the same in spite of one firm troubled with labor problems. Export demand has been light but a little seasonal expansion in range cube production helped clean up nearby offerings. Forward trade remains light. Buffalo middlings fell under pressure of bountiful supply of corn and oats and closed $13.00 lower at $60.00 per ton. Kansas City midds sold $1.50 higher to $70.00 and Los Angeles millrun sold $7.00 lower to $102.00 per ton.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Alfalfa markets were generally steady in slow trading. Production is fair but dry spots are delaying third cutting and start of fourth cutting is delayed in a few spots. Winter trade is confined to dairy users and regular customers at large feed lots. Many feedlots are running less than full yard capacity due to better than average pastures. Alfalfa Center of Nebraska dehydrated alfalfa pellets were steady at mostly $79.00 per ton.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses mostly steady, except California ports steady to $5.00 lower. Late summer demand seasonally light with very limited movement, usually against previous commitments. Supplies generally plentiful with discounting reported in some areas. Beet molasses supplies virtually cleaned up in the intermountain areas while adequate to meet good demand in the Red River Valley. Inquiry noted for new crop beet molasses with some contracting reported.

DISTILLERS' AND BREWERS DRIED GRAINS: U.S. PRODUCTION AND STOCKS, JULY 1982.....16

HIGHLIGHTS: Wheat and feed grain markets sold in mixed price trends during the week. Tight farm holding, lower interest rates, a slight expansion in export sales as the U.S. dollar market weakened, and the severe drought in Australian wheat areas provided support. Large stocks of grains, prospects for record corn and soybean production in the U.S. and the poor world wide economy weighed on demand.

WHEAT: Wheat markets traded mixed as large world stocks and a weak economy discourages export trade. Domestic flour trading expanded seasonally as school lunch programs started in most areas. Kansas City No. 1 hard red winter ordinary protein wheat sold 2 cents lower to $3.79 per bushel. St. Louis soft red winter wheat declined 4-5 cents to $3.16 per bushel. Minneapolis dark northern spring wheat, 14 percent protein advanced 1 3/4 cents to $4.04 per bushel. Portland soft white wheat sold 1 cent higher to$4.30 per bushel.

CORN: The large Mexican feed grain tender supported corn markets and Kansas City No. 2 yellow corn was 5 1/2 cents higher to $2.48 1/2 per bushel. Minneapolis sold 6 cents higher to $2.37 per bushel. Kansas City milling quality white corn traded 2 cents lower at $2.40 per bushel with most buying interest in new crop material.

OATS AND BARLEY: Prices were mixed as harvest pressure and limited storage space pressured the market in the face of fairly good demand. Minneapolis heavy oats traded unchanged to 7 cents lower at $1.57 per bushel. Minneapolis best malting barley sold 10 cents lower to $2.10-2.60 per bushel. Minneapolis feed barley was 7 cents higher to $1.71 per bushel. Los Angeles barley traded 7 cents lower at $2.81-2.83 per bushel.

SORGHUM: The sorghum market responded to a stronger cash corn market, light farm selling, and the news that Mexico, was tendering for around 400,000 tons of U.S. sorghum. Mexico actually bought 637,000 tons and the market sold 19 cents higher to $4.23 per hundred pounds at Kansas City.

OILSEEDS: Soybeans traded in wide price ranges during the week due to prospects for a record crop and tight farm holding. Extensive down time by several processors and a late week return to production by some processing firms influenced prices in varying directions. Minneapolis No. 1 yellow soybeans sold 3 cents lower to $5.68 3/4 per bushel. Illinois processor prices declined 9 1/2-19 1/2 cents at $5.55 1/2-5.68 1/2 per bushel. Kansas City was 1 cent higher at $5.72 3/4 per bushel as a large processing plant resumed operations. Minneapolis flaxseed sold 35 cents higher to $6.10 per bushel. Duluth and Minneapolis sunflower seed markets were inactive.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feed grains and feedstuffs traded in mixed price trends during the week. Markets selling higher resulted mostly from light supplies and downward price movement was mostly in response to prospective large feed grain harvest. Nearly ideal growing conditions exist over much of the corn and soybean areas. Feed grain markets were supported by lack of farm selling and possible Mexican sorghum purchases.

OILSEED MEAL: Soybean meal traded mostly lower in spite of reduced crush as export trade continued light and ample supplies of other proteins including fish meal continued competitive in formula feeds. Decatur declined $4.50 to $164.50 per ton for 44 percent and to $176.50 for 48 percent protein meal. Cottonseed meal sold higher as old crop supplies dwindled and plants were shutting down seasonally in preparation for new crop cotton harvest. California mills solvent meal sold $3.00 higher to $195.50 per ton and Lubbock sold $5.00 higher to $140.00 per ton. Minneapolis linseed meal was $5.00 lower to $140.00 per ton in spite of light crush as rains delayed flaxseed harvest. Minneapolis sunflower meal was 50 cents lower to $97.50 per ton and sunflower seed oil was 1/4 cent lower to 23 1/4 cents per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEINS: Meat meal markets were mostly higher as reduced slaughter tightened supplies. Minneapolis was an exception where heavy slaughter produced more material than the trade would absorb and prices were $5.00 lower to $195.00 per ton for meat meal and $220.00 per ton for tankage. Other markets sold $2.50-5.00 per ton higher. Domestic fish meal traded unchanged but imported chilean fish meal was offered $5.00 lower at $320.00 per ton Gulf or East Coast port markets. Domestic production began to taper off seasonally.

CORN FEEDS: Cash corn markets showed some strength as light farm selling, tightness in available good milling quality offerings, and exporter demand gave support to corn feeds. Corn feeds production remained light due to light demand for sweetners and other corn products. Illinois yellow hominy feed sold $4.00 higher to $74.00 per ton. Chicago corn gluten feed was steady at $110.00 per ton and the 60 percent protein corn gluten meal traded $5.00 higher at $225.00 per ton. Brewers' dried grains remain weak due to recent feed formulation changes to wheat millfeeds and prices were $1.00-2.00 per ton lower. Distillers' dried grains remain in light supply but widespread substitution in formula feeds kept the market cautious and mostly lower.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Wheat millfeeds sold in a mixed trend as recent low prices, a slight increase in range cube production tightened supplies, and the approaching holiday was expected to cause a loss of 1/2 to 1 full day of run time at flour mills. Buffalo midds turned $6.00 per ton higher at $66.00 per ton. Kansas City sold $5.00 higher to $75.00 per ton but Minneapolis was $3.00 lower to $58.00 per ton under pressure of heavy flour grind. Los Angeles millrun was $6.00 lower at $96.00 per ton.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Alfalfa trade showed little change except for a $1.00 higher quote for dehydrated alfalfa pellets at $80.00 per ton in the Platte Valley of Nebraska. Alfalfa harvest is about finished on dry lands and irrigated fields are mostly beyond the half way mark in all areas. Sun-cured alfalfa trade was slow at generally steady prices, except Platte Valley of Nebraska baled alfalfa in farm piles steady to $5.00 higher at $40.00-45.00 per ton for feedlot quality hay.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses closed mostly steady. The only change being California ports unchanged to $5.00 lower with all quotes now at the $54.00 level. Ample supplies and keen competition moved West Coast prices lower. Molasses volume continues seasonally light with some improvement noted this past week. Lower cattle prices and bumper crops of corn and wheat weigh on molasses usage. Beet molasses markets in the Red River Valley steady with adequate supplies to meet trade requirements. Interest good for new crop contracting in the Colorado, Wyoming and Montana areas.

HIGHLIGHTS: Wheat and feed grain markets weakened during the Holiday shortened week. Prospective record production of corn and soybeans coupled with a poor world-wide economy depressed cash markets and sold at sharply lower price levels. Light frost damage was reported in Northern U.S., Canada, and Russian grain areas. Drought in Australia and Mexico continues to damage crops.

WHEAT: Wheat prices declined moderately as light export demand was partially offset by reports of further crop losses in drought striken areas of Australia and Mexico. Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat closed 1 1/2 cents lower at $3.77 1/2 per bushel. St. Louis soft red winter wheat was 2-3 cents lower at $3.13-3.14 per bushel. Minneapolis No. 1 dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat declined 2 cents to $4.02 per bushel. Portland soft white wheat sold 1 cent lower to $4.29 per bushel.

CORN: Yellow corn markets declined sharply under pressure of new crop record production prospects and tight storage conditions. Minneapolis No. 2 yellow corn fell 22 1/4 cents to $2.14 3/4 per bushel. Kansas City fell 13 cents for yellow corn and dropped 5 cents for milling quality white corn.

OATS AND BARLEY: Tight storage and new crop pressure weakened oats and barley markets. Minneapolis heavy oats traded 6 cents lower at $1.51 per bushel. Minneapolis best malting barley sold 10 cents lower to $2.00-2.50 per bushel. Portland feed barley was 2-12 cents lower at $2.33 per bushel.

SORGHUM: New crop pressure and light export buying offset good feedlot buying and sorghum markets declined sharply. Kansas City declined 18 cents to $4.05 and the Texas High Plains market fell 40 cents to $4.20-4.30 per hundred pounds.

OILSEEDS: Harvest has started for the prospective record soybean crop and quality of newly beans was reported good at midwestern soybean processing plants. Export movement continues above year ago level but is inadequate to hold prices in line due to tight storage space and expected record production. Illinois processing bids fell 25-28 1/2 cents to $5.30 1/2-5.40 per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed advanced 5 cents to $6.15 per bushel. Duluth sunflower seed received no cash bids as new crop was quoted down 5 cents to $9.50 per hundred pounds. Minneapolis sunflower seed oil dropped 1/2 cents to 23 1/4 cents per pound.

INTERIOR

Exports from points other than listed above, including shipments by rail and truck.

HIGHLIGHTS: Feedstuffs sold mostly lower during the week. Downward pressure originated in reports of prospective record corn and soybean crops and light export business as the U.S. dollar strengthened. The Holiday caused a flurry of business last week and this resulted in lighter demand for the current week. Most market strength came from a relatively light supply of a few feedstuffs.

OILSEED MEAL: Harvest pressure kept soybean meal prices weak in spite of light supplies. Many plants took down time to ready machinery for the new crop. Light new crop movement started in Illinois and bean quality is reported good. Decatur soybean meal declined $4.75 to $159.75 for 44 percent and to $171.75 per ton for 48 percent protein meal. Cottonseed meal supplies remain light but nearby new crop and lower soybean meal markets pressed prices lower. California mills solvent meal sold 50 cents lower and southwest offerings were $2.50 lower. Memphis declined $5.00 to $155.00 per ton. Minneapolis linseed meal sold $1.00 higher to $141.00 per ton and sunflower meal was $2.50 higher to $100.00 per ton due to light supplies. Sunflower seed oil was steady at 23 1/4 cents per pound.

ANIMAL PROTEINS: Meat meal supplies are in close balance with usage but most markets moved lower in response to lower soybean meal markets. Fort Worth was $5.00 lower to $200.00 per ton and Kansas City was down $5.00 to $187.50 per ton. Minneapolis tankage was steady at $220.00 per ton. Feather meal markets sold $5.00 lower in southern areas and dropped $10.00 per ton at Minneapolis as turkey movement increased. Gulf and East Coast fish meal was $5.00 lower to $310.00 per ton but the West Coast was steady.

CORN FEEDS: Corn feeds showed little price change in spite of sharply lower cash feed grain markets as production remains light. Illinois yellow hominy feed held at $74.00 per ton while Kansas City was up $3.00 to $85.00 per ton. Corn gluten feed and meal markets were mostly unchanged with production and demand light. Distillers' dried grains were scarce but light usage kept prices unchanged. Brewers' dried grains production continues to slow seasonally but reduced usage forced prices lower.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: Flour mill grind was light due to Monday's Holiday and usage has picked up as prices declined sharply during recent weeks. This tightened supplies and supported prices in most areas. Buffalo midds sold $10.00 higher to $76.00 per ton. Kansas City advanced $5.00 to $81.00 per ton and Minneapolis was $2.00 higher to $60.00 per ton. Portland millrun was $4.00 lower to $102.00 per ton.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Better than seasonal pasturage over most of the nation reduced the demand for alfalfa feedstuffs and most markets were unchanged in light trading. Favorable feeding ratios at cattle feedyards prompted some winter booking but most users took only urgently needed supplies. Export demand remains light. Alfalfa Center of Nebraska dehydrated pellets held at $80.00 per ton. Platte River Valley of Nebraska baled alfalfa hay was steady to $5.00 higher at $45.00 per ton. Los Angeles sun-cured alfalfa pellets were unchanged at $128.00 per ton.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses markets closed mostly steady with the exception of the West Coast which sold steady to $4.00 lower. Abundant supplies and heavy discounting in that area this past week established the lower trend. New crop beet molasses contracting in the Colorado-Montana-Wyoming area is now underway. Demand has been very good and a considerable amount of new crop has already been contracted. Slicing operations began in the Red River Valley September 2-3. The Red River Valley is expanding to move beet molasses supplies into many areas not previously supplied.

HIGHLIGHTS: Wheat and feed grain markets moved in mixed price trends during the week. Threat of early frost in northern areas contributed support to soybean and yellow corn markets in spite of the forecast for record production prospects. Soft wheat markets were supported by predominance of lower cost wheat and flour sales for export. European buying of soybean meal expanded as the U.S. dollar weakened against foreign currencies.

WHEAT: Kansas City hard red winter ordinary protein wheat declined 2 1/4 cents to $3.75 1/4 per bushel. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat sold 3/4 cents higher to $4.05 3/4 per bushel. Portland No. 1 soft white wheat traded 2 cents higher at $4.31 per bushel.

CORN: Tight farm holding, threat of early frost damage to the rapidly maturing crop and increased farm storage capacity supported yellow corn markets. Kansas City advanced 3/4 cent to $2.36 1/4 per bushel. Minneapolis sold 14 1/2 cents higher to $2.29 1/4 per bushel. Kansas City milling quality white corn was 4 cents higher to $2.39 per bushel.

OATS AND BARLEY: Markets were mixed in light trading. Minneapolis heavy oats closed mixed, down 1 cent to up 2 cents at $1.50-1.53 per bushel. Minneapolis best malting barley traded unchanged to 15 cents higher at $2.15-2.50 per bushel. Portland feed barley declined 5-10 cents at $2.23-2.28 per bushel.

SORGHUM: Pastures began burning out in the southwest due to the extended dry weather which is also delaying winter wheat planting in Oklahoma, Texas, and parts of Kansas. This gave sorghum support and markets advanced in all areas except California. Kansas City sold 4 cents higher to $4.09 per hundred pounds. Texas High Plains advanced 5-10 cents at $4.25-4.40 per hundred pounds.

OILSEEDS: Soybean markets advanced sharply in most areas as threat of early frost damage in northern areas gave support in spite of predictions for record production. Additional farm storage facilities added strength. Illinois processing plant bids ranged 33 1/2 -41 cents higher at $5.71 1/2-5.73 1/2 per bushel. Minneapolis flaxseed fell 15 cents to $6.00 per bushel. Sunflower markets were slow for immediate delivery but new crop bids fell 5 cents to $9.45 at Duluth and down 10 cents to $9.15 per hundred pounds at Minneapolis. Sunflower seed oil was unchanged.

INCLUDES SHIPMENTS TO CANADA. YELLOW CORN INCLUDES MIXED CORN.

SOURCE: FEDERAL GRAIN INSPECTION SERVICE

HIGHLIGHTS: Feedstuffs and feed grains traded in mixed price trends during the week. Demand showed some improvement but good pastures over much of the country limited feed requirments. Slowly increasing corn and soybean harvest applied pressure to markets but tight farmer holding was supportive. Good feeding margins kept swine, cattle feedlots, and dairy herds consuming feeds at a steady pace. Pet foods began seasonal expansion as cooler temperatures moved into northern areas. Poultry feeding is fairly constant as growers continue to replace birds moving to market. Users continued to buy feedstuffs on an as needed basis only.

OILSEED MEAL: Soybean processing plants continued to take down time and this kept soybean meal supplies tight for nearby delivery. Decatur advanced $2.75 to $162.50 per ton for 44 percent and to $174.50 per ton for 48 percent protein meal. California mills solvent cottonseed meal sold $1.00 lower to $194.00 but Lubbock meal, in tight supply, was up $2.50 to $140.00 per ton. Minneapolis linseed meal was $1.00 lower to $140.00 per ton due to harvest pressure. Sunflower meal sold $6.00 higher to $106.00 at Minneapolis due to tight supplies. Sunflower oil was steady at 23 1/4 cents per pound at Minneapolis.

ANIMAL PROTEINS: Supply and demand remained in close relationship for meat meal and small changes in demand or offerings pushed markets in a steady to weaker pattern. Kansas City and Minneapolis meat meal closed steady but Minneapolis tankage was $5.00 lower to $215.00 per ton. Fort Worth meat meal declined $5.00 to $195.00 per ton. East, Gulf, and Pacific fish meal markets were unchanged in light trading. Supply is moderate in Gulf and East Coast markets but light in the Pacific area. Feather meal traded steady to weak as plentiful supplies met moderate demand.

CORN FEEDS: Yellow hominy feed traded steady as tight supply, light farmer corn offerings and nearby harvest pressure were offsetting influences. Corn gluten feed traded unchanged at $115.00 per ton Kansas City or Chicago but 60 percent protein corn gluten meal was $10.00 lower to $227.00 per ton at Kansas City. Chicago was unchanged at $225.00 per ton. Brewers' and distillers' dried grains traded narrowly mixed with supply and demand light.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: A slight pick up in flour mill grind at a few locations weakened wheat millfeed markets. Buffalo middlings sold $2.00 lower to $74.00 per ton and Portland millrun declined $2.00 to $100.00 per ton. Tight supply forced Kansas City midds $5.00 higher at $86.00 per ton and Minneapolis midds were $3.00 higher to $63.00 per ton.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: Alfalfa markets firmed as a few spots neared harvest completion and a little more buying for export and domestic usage gave market support. Alfalfa Center of Nebraska dehydrated alfalfa pellets sold $1.00 higher to $81.00 per ton with most processing plants expecting to raise prices to cover storage and handling cost. Los Angeles sun-cured alfalfa pellets were unchanged at $128.00 per ton. Baled alfalfa hay markets were unchanged with a firm undertone with good quality supplies expected to be tight this winter.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses markets were steady. Some seasonal increase in demand was noted but still slow as pastures remain excellent in most areas of the country. Price cutting and/or discounting continues on the West Coast. The Florida cane crop is looking very good. Feeding requirements continue minimal due to ample rains and excellent grass. Citrus molasses processing should be starting around November. Some fresh moving into the market place but none for processing. Production of citrus molasses through July 31, 1982 was 22,905 tons compared to 35,054 tons the corresponding period July 31, 1982. Hawaiin production for July 1982 was 5,474,223 gallons. Imports of molasses during June, 1982 amounted to 128,353 metric tons. Columbia with 29,091 metric tons followed by Honduras with 23,878 metric tons were the leading suppliers.

HIGHLIGHTS: Soybeans traded sharply lower during the week. Expanding harvest of the prospective record soybean crop pressured markets lower in spite of expanded domestic and export demand. Export grain shipments showed fair expansion during the previous week. Lower interest rates contributed some market support but poor world-wide economic conditions continued to limit trading.

WHEAT: Cash wheat markets closed in a mixed price trend. The brief railroad strike disrupted trade during the week and the lack of large export sales tended to depress buyers ideas. Kansas City No. 1 hard red winter ordinary protein wheat closed 1 cent higher but remains 45 1/4 cents per bushel under the year ago price level. St. Louis soft red wheat dropped 16-17 cents and fell 64 cents below the year ago market. Minneapolis dark northern spring 14 percent protein wheat closed steady but down 19 1/2 cents from last season. Portland soft white wheat declined 4 cents but is up 8 cents per bushel from last season.

CORN: Lack of much farm selling countered new crop harvest pressure and yellow corn markets moved in a mixed price trend. Kansas City market rose 3/4 cent but 22 1/2 cents per bushel under last season. Minneapolis market fell 5 3/4 cents and this is down 17 cents from last season. Kansas City milling quality white corn rose 3 cents but remains 28 cents below the year ago market.

OATS AND BARLEY: Oats markets were little changed in light trade Minneapolis heavy oats ranged 2-3 cents higher per bushel. Barley markets moved mostly higher due to light offerings and fair buying interest. Minneapolis best malting barley traded up 10 cents but fell 45-75 cents per bushel below year ago prices.

SORGHUM: Expanding new crop sorghum harvest was offset by increased cattle feed lot buying and markets moved mixed. Kansas City No. 2 yellow grain sorghum fell 4 cents but is up 4 cents per hundred pounds compared with last year. The Texas High Plains market moved sharply higher to close up 20 cents per hundred pounds.

OILSEEDS: Expanding new crop soybean harvest pressured markets lower but trading showed a pick up in volume toward the end of the period. Minneapolis No. 1 yellow soybeans fell 42 1/4 cents and is down 82 1/4 cents per bushel from last season. Illinois processor point prices declined 34-42 1/2 cents and is down nearly $1.00 per bushel from last year's market. Minneapolis flaxseed dropped 30 cents, down $1.15 per bushel from last year. New crop sunflower seed bids fell 15 cents per hundred pounds at Minneapolis. Minneapolis sunflower seed oil traded 1/2 cent lower per pound.

HIGHLIGHTS: Spreading feed grain harvest was offset by the railroad engineers strike and prices moved in a mixed trend during the week. Threat of early frost caused some concern late in the period but a warming trend set in and fears of frost and freeze damage were minimal at the close. Feed demand showed little change but trended weaker as farmers spent more time harvesting feed grains and preparing winter wheat fields for planting.

OILSEED MEAL: Spreading soybean harvest offset tight supplies as many processors operated at less than full schedules due to tight farmer holding of soybeans, the railraods engineers strike limiting rail movement in some areas, and the reluctance of processors to own much soybean or meal stocks going into a prospective record crop. Decatur soybean meal closed up $1.00 to $163.40 per ton for 44 percent and to $175.50 for 48 percent protein meal. Scarcity of old crop supply forced most cottonseed meal markets higher but Memphis sold $2.50 lower to $152.50 per ton as new crop harvest began to spread into southern areas. Minneapolis linseed meal traded unchanged at $140.00 per ton but sunflower meal declined $8.50 to $97.50 per ton. Sunflower oil sold 1/4 cent lower to 23 cents per pound at Minneapolis.

ANIMAL PROTEINS: Supply and demand for meat meal remains in fairly good balance. Fort Worth meat meal sold $5.00 higher to $200.00 per ton but Kansas City sold $2.50 lower to $185.00 per ton. Minneapolis tankage held steady at $215.00 per ton. West Coast fish meal was steady but Gulf and East Coast markets sold $5.00 higher to $315.00 per ton F.O.B. ports. Feather meal markets were mostly lower due to plentiful supplies.

CORN FEEDS: Spreading yellow corn harvest was countered by light farm selling and tight supply of corn feedstuffs. Processing plant run time continues light. Corn gluten feed very scarce and quoted steady at $115.00 per ton. Corn gluten 60 percent protein meal was unchanged at $227.00 per ton Kansas City but $5.00 lower at $220.00 per ton Chicago. Illinois yellow hominy feed sold 50 cents lower to $73.60 but was quoted unchanged at $85.00 per ton Kansas City due to tight supplies. Brewers' dried grains production declined seasonally and prices were up $2.00-7.00 per ton at production points. Distillers' dried grains remain scarce as many producers remain on short production schedules or are closed until after the first of the year due to large inventories of distilled spirits. Industrial alcohol plant production is expected to increase sharply this winter if gasohol usage picks up. Distillers' dried grains quoted steady to $2.00 per ton lower as the October allotments were announced at reduced prices.

WHEAT MILLFEEDS: The railroad engineers strike disrupted trade in areas dependent on railroads affected by the strike and markets traded mostly higher. Demand has showed little changed due to better than average pasturage and large farm stocks of grain and fodder. Buffalo wheat middlings sold $4.00 higher to $78.00 per ton. Minneapolis was steady at $63.00, and Kansas City advanced $1.00 to $87.00 per ton.

ALFALFA PRODUCTS: In spite of light demand the alfalfa market continues firm as increased cost and lower production prompted producers to raise prices in the Nebraska area. Alfalfa center of Nebraska dehydrated alfalfa pellets were $3.00 higher at $84.00 per ton. Sun-cured alfalfa was mostly unchanged but Kansas City sun-cured alfalfa pellets sold $2.00 higher to $95.00 per ton. Baled alfalfa hay trade continues thin at unchanged prices.

MOLASSES: Feeding cane molasses markets closed steady. Supplies are plentiful. The European prices continue to be below U.S. East Coast markets but higher than the Gulf Coast. The prospects of a large feed grain crop, more sophisticated liquid feed and pelletized dry feed weigh on anticipation of big increases of molasses usage in spite of the more competitive prices. Imports of molasses for the month of July totaled 114,041 metric tons. Mexico with 32,933 metric tons followed by Dominican Republic with 25,807 metric tons were the leading suppliers.
